

AMERICANS RUN GAUNTLET OF CANTONESE FIRE FLEEING FOR LIVES TO SHELTER OF WARSHIPS

Three Men Confess To Hogan Slaying at Macon

ROBBERY ATTEMPT WAS MOTIVE, TRIO TELLS OFFICERS

Police Say Suspects Arrested in Knoxville Admit They Killed Prominent Broker.

MRS. EVA TANNER IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Shot Fired Accidentally as Would-Be Robbers Tussled Over Gun, Confession Says.

Macon, Ga., March 28.—(AP)—Placed upon the spot where E. B. Hogan, cotton broker, was shot and killed on March 16, three men, who escaped convicts from Florida, who were brought to Macon today from Knoxville, Tenn., confessed, according to officers, that they were the ones who killed Hogan. Robbery was given as the motive for the killing.

The three men are: Jack Kenton, alias Kelly, of Toledo, Ohio; Bradley McIntosh, alias George Hall, of Newberne, N. C., and Bernard Shray, of New York and Boston.

The men made their confessions separately, then were placed together to hear each other talk and the statement of each was corroborated by the other two.

Coinciding with these confessions was made that Mrs. Eva Tanner, companion of Mr. Hogan on the fatal ride through the lonely road in Oreeo Heights, was released from the Bibb county jail, where she had been held for nine days.

Kenton, alias Kelley, fired the fatal shot, all three admitted. They said, however, that the pistol was discharged accidentally as Kenton made an effort to wrench it from the hands of Hall, 17, the youngest of the trio.

"Hall was nervous," Kenton said, "and I didn't want him to shoot. 'For sakes,' I told him, 'don't shoot, give me the pistol.'"

Kenton said that the pistol was cocked and he knew that it would be fired "if I didn't get it away from him."

Stolen Car Used. "I was sitting behind the steering wheel of the car said to be the sedan stolen from Alfred Willingham, when the shot was fired," Hall told those questioning him. This was corroborated by the other two.

The men confessed that Hall got out of the machine in which three men were riding, and pointing a pistol at Hogan, commanded him to put up his hands. Kenton, who was driving the automobile, realizing that the pistol Hall was using was cocked and fearing that Hall in his nervousness might discharge the gun, reached from the automobile in attempt to get it away from the youth who had it pointed at Hogan. The men wrestled over possession of the gun and during the struggle it was fired, the bullet penetrating Hogan's forehead, killing him instantly.

The confession of the youths was made shortly after their arrival here at 3:15 o'clock. It was made in the

Two Suspects Held By Police Probing Kidnaping of Baby

Frank Basket Taken to Knoxville for Safe Keeping; Mrs. Annie Tomlinson Arrested.

OFFICERS GRILL NURSE OF CHILD

Protege of Family Believed To Have Information Which Would Aid in Finding Abductors.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 28.—(AP) Miss Johnny Peale, 17, protegee of the family of City Commissioner Fred B. Frazier and nurse of Virginia Jo, two-year-old daughter, kidnaped last Wednesday night, and returned last night after payment of $3,333 in ransom, was being questioned tonight by officers. It was believed that she might have information which would aid in the apprehension of the abductors.

The girl was being examined on the strength of evidence gathered by Chief W. H. Hackett of city detectives, and Sheriff Tom Selman of Hamilton county, and taken to police headquarters, where the investigation is being conducted.

Sheriff Selman said the evidence which prompted the arrest revolved around the apparent familiarity of the kidnapers with the interior of the home from which the baby was stolen.

Taken to Knoxville. Meanwhile, Frank Basket, arrested here tonight on a warrant charging him with kidnaping and demanding ransom, was being taken hurriedly by officers to Knoxville, the sheriff and chief of detectives being of the opinion that his presence there would create less public feeling over the kidnaping than if he were held in Chattanooga.

Mrs. Annie Miller Tomlinson, whose arrest on a similar warrant followed shortly after Basket's arrest, was placed in a cell in the city jail.

One Woman Released. A third woman, held for questioning earlier tonight, was released. Her name has not been divulged. It was Miss Peale who first discovered the absence of the child from her small bed. She aroused the household with her cry that, "Virginia Jo is gone. Somebody's got her." She slept in an adjoining room and by telephone officials that she became apprehensive when the child failed to summon her in the middle of the night, as was her custom, and investigated.

The authorities also revealed tonight for the first time that a tiny gold locket was missed from a jewelry case on Mrs. Frazier's dresser Thursday morning and that it was enclosed in the first mailed demand for ransom which came from the kidnapers.

With it was a lock of curly, golden hair, apparently the baby's. Both apparently were intended to prove to the Fraziers that the writers of the ransom note had the child and by an automobile blanket, folded and tucked away in a cupboard in the hall adjacent to Virginia Jo's little bedroom, was another article which

MAMMOTH ISSUE OF CONSTITUTION DUE WEDNESDAY

Publication Sponsored by Junior League of Atlanta Starts Off Presses Tonight.

Atlanta and the south tomorrow will get enough reading matter thrown on their front door step to keep them busy for a month. The Junior League edition of The Atlanta Constitution, which will be one of the biggest week-day publications this season ever known, will begin thundering off the presses early tonight, and until the wee hours of Wednesday morning they'll keep on thundering—for they have a big job before them.

Theatergoers and all who come downtown tonight will get an advance opportunity to read the mammoth edition, for Junior League girls attired in fetching caps and aprons will be stationed on every busy street corner subbing for the regular Constitution "venders," who are slated for a brief rest while the Junior Leaguers sell their wares.

Wednesday morning the league girls again will take command of the sale of Constitutions and will resume their posts to vend the great papers. They will even man Constitution trucks with an extra "run" of papers in order to see that their street sellers are plentifully supplied.

Members of the league, composed of daughters of the city's most prominent families, have worked with unabated energy for the past several weeks securing advertisements for the big issue which they are sponsoring for the purpose of raising funds to carry on charities which they "mother" in Atlanta.

Other Junior Leaguers have labored faithfully at gathering news concerning the league and its members and its activities, and in this respect the public may expect one of the most attractive issues of The Constitution it has ever read.

Pictures and stories and features ads galore, ads that tell of the advantages of thousands of products and services—all will be included in the special edition and the league members are going to carry on their work until the last paper is sold on the street, fed into the mails and delivered into homes of Atlanta.

Mrs. Eugene Harrington is chairman of the special edition committee of the league, and she has been assisted in the comprehensive task by the solid membership of the league. Contests between teams and individuals for prizes for selling the greatest amount of advertising space have been offered, and these will be decided with the close of the special edition tonight.

Confess They Slew Prominent Macon Citizen

On left is shown John Kenton, who officers say, confessed that he with Bradley McIntosh, alias Hall (right), shot and killed E. B. Hogan on March 16, during a scuffle for possession of the pistol as they sought to rob the well-known cotton broker. The third member of the trio that entered into the alleged holdup is Bernard Shray (center). The trio has been identified as escaped convicts from Florida and the confessions by them all of the Hogan slaying, were made when they were carried to Macon Monday from Knoxville, Tenn., where they were arrested several days ago.

FIRE TRUCK HIT BY STREET CAR

Two Firemen Injured in Crash as Hook and Ladder Truck Rushes to Blaze.

Two city firemen were sent to Grady hospital with painful cuts and bruises about the body and several others were slightly hurt in a collision between a hook and ladder truck from engine company No. 7 and a street car at Stewart avenue and Rockwell street early Monday night, according to reports.

The hook and ladder truck, No. 7, of 379 Milledge avenue, and M. J. Dean, 30, of 1470 Graham street, Crumley was cut about the left chest, while Dean suffered a wrenched left leg, according to hospital attaches.

The firemen were answering a call to a negro dwelling that was burning on Coleman street and were making the turn from Stewart avenue into Rockwell street at the time of the accident.

Both Captain J. O. Hall, who was in charge of the hook and ladder crew, and F. A. Conger, driver of the truck, who were riding on the front seat of the truck, were slightly hurt, but continued to the fire.

According to information from both Captain Hall and Driver Conger, the truck was going unusually slow south on Stewart avenue, and was attempting to make a left turn into Rockwell street, when the street car, not heeding the fire truck going and (iron, crashed into it, causing the fire truck to swerve against an automobile parked on the side of the street.

The street car was operated by Motorman E. M. Harris, it was reported.

An automobile was going south on Stewart avenue and had pulled over to the side of the street in order to let the fire truck pass, it was said. The automobile was slightly damaged by the crash, as was the street car, according to reports. Identity of the driver was not learned.

ONE NEGRO KILLED, ANOTHER IS HURT, IN MARIETTA CRASH

Marietta, Ga., March 28.—(Special.)—A negro man named Williams was killed instantly and a negro woman was badly injured and is not expected to live as result of the truck on which they were riding being struck tonight at Polks crossing by the northbound Dixie Limited, crack N. C. & St. L. train.

Two other passengers on the truck, who escaped injury, fled and names could not be learned.

The negroes were coming into Marietta from the country to attend a local circus and the train was upon them before the driver could stop or make the crossing.

The truck was wrecked and was carried some distance on the engine before the train came to a standstill.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR OPERA SEATS

"Hurry-Up" Message Broadcast as Opera Lovers Maneuver for Choice Seats.

Indications that the slogan "hurry up" will be adopted for dilatory buyers of grand opera tickets were noticed Monday when the last six-day period of the sale of seats opened briskly at the office of the Cable Piano company, 84 North Broad street. A long line of purchasers appeared at the box office and opera officials said choice seats would go to those who have the forethought to make purchases this week.

Since the seventeenth season of opera in Atlanta will bring more operas than ever before were presented here in a single season, and will bring the greatest galaxy of stars, the demand for seats is unusually heavy this season.

Arrangements have been made to close the seat sale at the end of this week, hence the "hurry up" admonition handed out to those who want to enjoy the opera from the best seat. The differing them later may mean a difference of enjoyment of the show from a good seat and being forced to witness the productions from a distance.

After the seat sale closes at the end of the week the box office will be closed for one week. Arrangements have been made to keep seats on sale at the Cable Piano company office from the time the box office is reopened week after next, until within three hours of the time for the presentation of the first opera.

During opera week seats will be placed on sale at the Cable Piano company office until three hours before the performance when they will be transferred to the box office at the auditorium.

The time to get good seats is during the present week, and it was announced by opera officials, and those who defer action until the last moment will have to content themselves with what is left and so some of the operas it is probable that there will be no seats available after this week.

Officials announced that a new plan has been adopted under which out-of-town purchasers will receive relatively as good seats as city buyers. Orders are filled in the order they are received, hence the early buyers by mail will get choice seats also.

ANTI-FOREIGNISM TIDE KEPT RISING BY PROPAGANDA

Leaflets and Pamphlets Distributed in Shanghai Directing Boycott Against British.

FRANCE WILL RUSH TROOPS TO CHINA

Yangtze River Section Practically Deserted by Foreigners — Shanghai Barriers Strengthened.

Shanghai, March 28.—(AP)—Fleeing before a rising tide of anti-foreignism, foreigners in nationalist China, most of them Americans, today were moving steadily on Shanghai, some of them running a virtual gauntlet of Cantonese fire on the Yangtze river and others working their way to the coast from other directions through a hostile population.

Shanghai itself was the center of a growing anti-foreign feeling in the native district where leaflets and handbills were distributed blaming the British for the Nanking bombardment on Thursday and calling for a boycott of British goods and a strike of employees of British firms. The part played by the United States forces was not mentioned.

In the face of this agitation, the barriers about the international settlement were being strengthened steadily.

Every Ship Is Target. The Yangtze river, chief means of flight from the interior, has become the scene of a virtual state of war between the nationalist forces on one bank and foreign vessels carrying refugees. Shots have been fired on every ship proceeding down the river, naval vessels themselves escorting merchant ships being the targets for snipers.

Remote districts of the interior which have been out of wire communication with Shanghai have gradually been picking up the evacuation notice sent out by radio last week by American Consul General Clarence E. Gauss, with the result that foreigners in increasing numbers are flocking to the coast.

Two small steamers brought 71 Americans from Nanking to Shanghai, many of them suffering from typhoid and dysentery. Eleven cases were sent to a hospital. Twenty-five Americans arriving at Kiating, from Nanchang, have embarked for Shanghai, only five Americans, all men, are still in Nanchang.

Many Towns Evacuated. Other Americans have been evacuated from Xiangchow, Swatow, Hangchow, Chinkiang and various other smaller cities. The American destroyer Preble has completed a tour of the smaller ports, along the lower Yangtze, where 15 men and 14 women and 18 children, all Americans, were picked up. The French municipal council today held a meeting to consider the

TWO MEN SLAIN IN BOOTLEG WAR

Detroit, March 28.—(P)—The fate of a kidnaped gangster, police believed tonight, holds a possible solution of the slaying by machine gun fire of two men and the wounding of a third in the latest outbreak of Detroit's bootleg gang war today.

Entering a third story apartment hall before daybreak in answer to a telephone summons, Joseph Bloom, George Cohen and Frank Wright, alias Edward O'Brien, were shot down from behind a steel fire door by a volley of machine gun and revolver bullets. The bodies of Bloom and Cohen were riddled. Wright is in a critical condition at a hospital. Wright, also known as Frank Burke, is a former convict and is said to be wanted in Chicago in connection with a $100,000 diamond robbery.

Police attempts to locate Meyer ("Fish") Bloomfield, who they said was kidnaped Saturday night with his brother-in-law, Albert Albright, and driven out of town, were unsuccessful. It was in answer to a call to rescue Bloomfield, Wright said, that he, Bloom and Cohen entered the apartment house.

Albright told detectives he and Bloomfield were compelled to enter a car Saturday night and were driven several miles from Detroit. Bloomfield, he said, escaped, while he was released after a long drive. Bloomfield's car was found later, apparently abandoned.

The assailants fired at least 100 shots, police said, leaving the floor of the corridor and the rear stairway littered with shells.

NORTH CAROLINA FLAMES DESTROY ACRES OF TIMBER

Wilmington, N. C., March 28.—(P)—Reports reaching Wilmington today were to the effect that thousands of acres of timber have been destroyed by forest fires which have been raging in eight or more counties in southeastern North Carolina for several days. One death has been reported. Tom Core dropping dead while fighting fire near his home.

It was impossible to estimate the money loss but it was said that it will be tremendous. The fires were reported to be in parts of Bladen, Brunswick, Pender, Robeson, Columbus, Duplin, Onslow, Jones and in New Hanover counties.

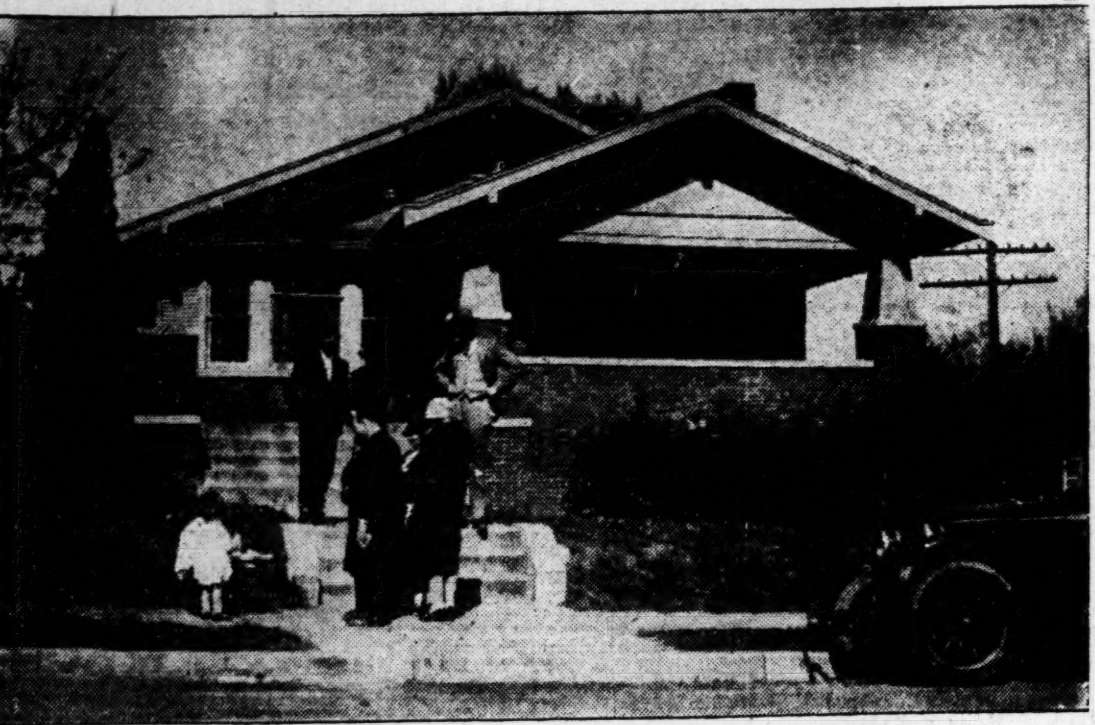

In Onslow county yesterday afternoon and last night fire-fighters were said to be facing a fire which was stretching from the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company's track virtually to New River, a distance of eight miles. Parts of Topsail township in Pender county were also badly damaged by the raging flames, it was reported.

A southwest wind prevailing practically the entire day yesterday whipped the flames about and made efforts to halt the fire futile. Some houses were known to have been burned.

2 CRIPPLED VESSELS MAKE SLOW PROGRESS

Mobile, Ala., March 28.—(P)—Two crippled vessels, a shipping board steamer and a schooner, are making their way slowly toward the port of Mobile. Through radio advice received at the Tropical Radio station here today, authorities were informed as to the whereabouts of the shipping board steamer, Cockaponset, from Galveston, being towed in from South Pass; and the schooner Catherine Scott, feeling her way up from Cuba with part of her masts swept away in a battle with a heavy blow.

All Chattanooga Rejoices as Kidnapers Return Little Virginia Jo to Parents

Young Adventuress Comes Back From Travels But Is Able To Tell Parents Little.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 28.—(P)—Everybody loves a baby, especially one with blue eyes and golden curls who has been kidnaped and restored to home and loved ones.

Pretty two-year-old Virginia Jo, daughter of City Commissioner and Mrs. Fred B. Frazier, is finding this out.

Stolen from her crib Wednesday night, and placed, slightly drugged, on the front porch of Dr. J. G. Venable's home last night, after her parents had ransomed her with $3,333 in cash, she finds herself now the darling of Chattanooga—a heroine, a young adventuress, come back from strange travels to be idolized.

She can not tell much of where she has been and what she has seen. Obviously, her bright little mind was kept slightly dulled by the kidnapers with a drug similar to whatever had been administered before she was placed on Dr. Venable's porch.

She explained her four-day absence to her father, in reply to a question as to "Where have you been, bee-bee?" (baby?) With two words, "Park. Choo-choo," she said.

Whether "Bee-Bee" was trying to tell of a train ride, or of having been near a park where the trains run is known only to herself. It is a fact, however, that the tracks of the Southern railway run close to Warner park in Chattanooga.

Typical of the public's attitude toward Virginia Jo, and illustrating the idea that Kipling had when he wrote "The colonel's lady and Ju-Ju," O'Grady are sisters under the skin. A tiny negro girl, little older than "Bee-Bee" herself, passed the house today. She grinned from ear to ear when she spied the petite blonde playing about the premises, and asked, "Is dat de baby what wuz stolen?"

TAX ESTIMATE HELD OPTIMISTIC

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Washington, March 28.—Original estimates of March 15 income tax payments were too optimistic, Ogden Mills, acting secretary of the treasury, announced today. The present indications are that income tax receipts for the month of March will fall below $550,000,000. Mr. Mills said, instead of exceeding $550,000,000 as he estimated when first returns from internal revenue collectors were being received. Some early estimates were in excess of $600,000,000.

A $550,000,000 total would represent an increase of $56,000,000 over the March income tax receipts of last year when $494,000,000 was taken in. Of the $56,000,000 increase, approximately $20,000,000 would be accounted for by the increased tax on corporation earnings and the balance by a greater business activity. Today's treasury statement, as of March 25 showed total income tax receipts for the month amounting to $485,113,174, as against $446,375,140 during the same period of March, 1926. It was stated that tomorrow's treasury statement as of March 26, would bring the total above $495,000,000 and that about $50,000,000 more is expected to come in before the close of the month.

Representative Green, republican, of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on ways and means, who conferred with Mr. Mills during the day on a program for tax revision next winter, remarked that the failure of the tax receipts to come up to estimates demonstrated the wisdom of the action of congress in refusing to reduce taxes during the recent session. Mr. Green said that the slump in revenue is not sufficient to affect the plans for a tax reduction next winter. Accurate information on which to decide the amount of tax reduction should be at hand, he said, by the time the ways and means committee commenced its hearings next November.

Mr. Green discussed with Mr. Mills preparations for tax revision. E. T. Alvord, special assistant to the secretary of the treasury, and other treasury experts are to work with drafting experts of congress in preparing a revision of the technical features of the revenue law during the summer.

The first analysis of income tax payments of 1926 on 1925 earnings, showing the effect of the reductions of the 1926 law, will be made public within the next week, Mr. Mills announced. It is understood that the figures will show a large increase in the number of persons paying more than $1,000,000 in income taxes.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD IN KIDNAPING CASE

had not been missed from the home until it was recognized last night, wrapped about the body of the child, who was found lying on the front porch of Dr. J. G. Venable, after he Fraziers had paid the ransom.

Persons unfamiliar with the Frazier home would have wrapped the kidnaped child in a blanket from her crib, the officers are inclined to believe, and would not know exactly where else but in a bedroom to find a blanket.

Mrs. Tomlinson, officers said, recently had publicly criticized Commissioner Frazier, who, as an attorney, had figured in a litigation in Dayton, Tenn., several years ago in which she was defeated.

Baskett, who was defended by Frazier and acquitted when tried in Rhea county eight years ago on a charge that he murdered his brother-in-law, and who more recently was discharged from the Chattanooga police force, and reinstated through Frazier's intervention, admitted to the officers tonight that for the last week he has been living with Mrs. Tomlinson, Sheriff Selman said.

Talking Baskett has done since the kidnaping of the Frazier child, however, was the basis on which a warrant for his arrest was issued.

Said Child Was Safe.
According to Sheriff Selman, Baskett, in friendly and casual conversation concerning the case with officers of his acquaintance, including Sheriff Harris, of Rhea county, and deputies of Sheriff Selman, continuously made such remarks as:

"Oh, that child is safe. Those people won't harm her. That is, unless you all push them too hard. If you get too hot after them they're apt to chuck the kid in a well."

Also, Sheriff Selman said, he reiterated suggestions to the officers that gypsies were the abductors of Virginia Jo.

"What's the penalty for kidnaping?" Baskett was quoted as having asked the Rhea county sheriff.

Baskett was also quoted as telling Jim Frazier, uncle of Virginia Jo, that "you'll get a letter. Don't worry. Those kidnapers want money."

"Got to Take Chance."
"But what assurance would we have of getting our child if we should receive such a letter and send the kidnapers some money?" he was asked.

"You got to take a chance," the officers said Baskett replied. "Did you ever know 'em to fail? That's the way they always do."

Sheriff Selman said Baskett called at the Frazier home Friday, several hours before the arrival of the first communication from the kidnapers, and asked:

"You got a letter? You'll hear from 'em. You'll get a letter asking for money."

Commissioner Herron pointed out that Baskett's first name is Frank, calling attention to instructions in the second ransom letter, received Sunday night, said for Frazier to give the money to a negro boy who would meet him at McCallie and Central avenues. Tell him to give it to Frank," the letter read. "He thinks my name is Frank."

Girl Virtually Adopted.
Johnny Peale, who has no living relatives, has been in the Frazier home for several years and was a member of the household when Virginia Jo was born, about two years and one month ago.

She was virtually adopted by the Fraziers, who took her from an orphanage.

John Gilbreath, Fraziers' brother-in-law, protested vigorously tonight when told by Commissioner Herron that the girl was to be taken into custody.

"Don't do anything like that, Ed," he said. "We trust her. We have implicit faith in her." Mr. Gilbreath accompanied Miss Peale to police headquarters when the officers escorted her away, and attempted to comfort her with soothing words on the way in.

Carvings From Stumps Wins
With chisel, mallet and a few others as his only tools, John Clark, an Indian in the Glacier National park preserve, has won wide recognition for his realistic carvings of animals and other subjects, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. As shown in the accompanying photograph, he does his work from live models, the dog here being one of his favorite puppies. Samples of his skill are on exhibition in various art museums.

Rich Man's Wife Has Disappeared With Policeman

Plainfield, N. J., March 28.—(United News.)—A young mother has been forced by the desertion of her policeman husband to break up her modest home and return to her parents.

A few blocks away in Plainfield's exclusive residential district a middle-aged husband, a wealthy dealer in iron and steel, sits alone in his mansion awaiting the return of an erring wife. Police of New York and neighboring cities are searching for Mrs. Linda H. Bache, wife of John W. Bache, and for Joseph Dever, the missing member of the local police force. Both disappeared on March 17, and it is believed they may be together.

"God forgive me for what I am about to write," begins a note which Mrs. Bache left her husband. In the note she tells of a man she had been going with and declares she will never return to her husband. Bache declines to say whether the man referred to in the note is Dever.

Just before her flight Mrs. Bache drew from the bank her savings, amounting to about $1,800. She also took her jewels worth $3,000 and a new car which her husband recently had given to her.

Outside of $250 savings which he borrowed from his wife the policeman is not known to have taken anything of value. He left his wife penniless, and she was forced to go to her parents' home near here. It was there her baby, a boy, was born.

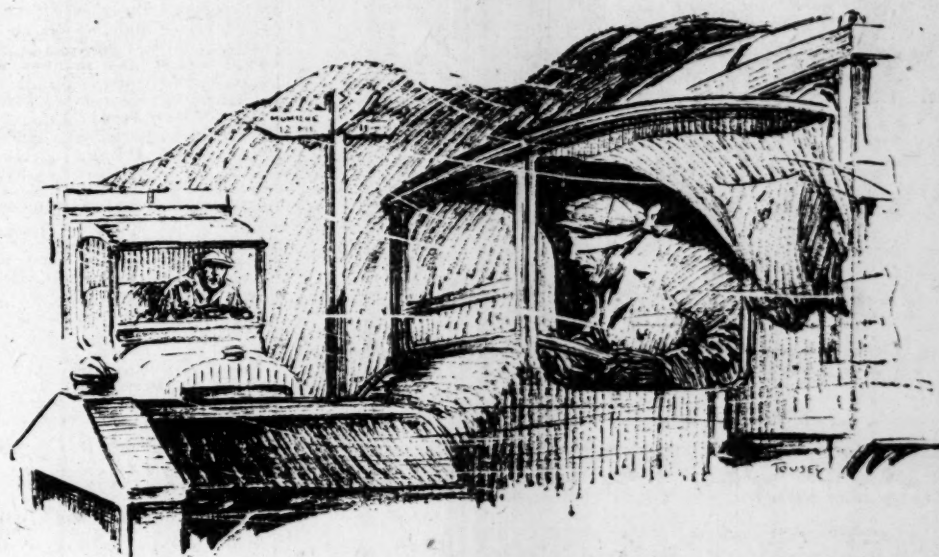

Embittered by her husband's desertion, Mrs. Dever has sworn out a warrant for his arrest.

Interment will take place at Leary, Ga., tomorrow, the place of her early childhood.

EGYPT DECIDES TO CUT ACREAGE

Washington, March 28.—(P)—The Egyptian government has determined upon acreage restriction and government purchases of cotton as measures to aid cotton growers.

These measures are intended to foster the adoption of a better rotation system, and to restrain speculation on the Egyptian markets, says a report received by the department of agriculture from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. The Egyptian government declares its policy of buying cotton is not directed in manner toward the impossible and of influencing world prices, but is designed merely to curb local speculation, and to prevent Egyptian cotton markets from being thrown out of line with world markets. It is estimated by reliable authorities that the acreage restriction law will reduce Egypt's cotton acreage by at least 300,000 acres if it is rigidly enforced. In 1926 the country's cotton acreage restriction laws have not been effectively enforced. Favorable cotton markets prevented their enforcement in 1916, 1918 and 1921, and a law passed in 1925 was later abandoned because of the cotton famine caused by the government's failure to enforce it. The law is nevertheless the announced intention of the government rigidly to enforce the present law, which was passed December 3, 1926. It provides that no farmer shall plant more than one-third of his tillable land in cotton. Violations of the law are punishable by a fine or imprisonment or both, and acreage planted in excess of the permitted amount may be uprooted at the farmers' expense. The chief benefit expected from the restriction is an impulse toward crop diversification, so that the country will become less dependent on cotton. Experiments undertaken by the Egyptian government indicate that a three years' rotation would increase the yield of cotton by 20 pounds of lint per acre, and at the same time release more land and water for other crops. The one-third cotton restriction law is intended to help in establishing such a rotation. Under the law it will require three years for the farmer to put all his land into cotton. The government hopes that a three years' trial will demonstrate the value of a rotation system so that it will be continued voluntarily thereafter. Besides acreage restriction and government purchases of cotton, Egypt is also making loans to growers at less than open market rates, prohibiting mixing of cotton varieties and requiring certification of seed as to purity and germination.

FORD DECLARES HE IS THROUGH WITH SHOALS BID

Washington, March 28.—(P)—To oft-repeated statements that operation of Muscle Shoals, so far as he is concerned, is a closed incident, Henry Ford has added another disavowal, says the Washington Post. The automobile manufacturer, whose proposal to operate the Alabama power property once caused wide discussion, has written a letter within the past week, the newspaper has learned, saying he does not intend to submit an old proposal or a new one unless requested to do so formally and officially by congress. The Post declares that the letter addressed to one of the Washington men seeking to unravel the snarl, surrounding Muscle Shoals, is in spirit of his latest information. Ford is believed by some Muscle Shoals friends, the newspaper declares, not to have definitely closed his interest toward the property.

Columbia, S. C., March 28.—(P)—White Evans, proprietor of a number of filling stations, demanded a jury trial when he appeared in magistrate's court this morning to face a charge of breaking the Sunday law by selling gasoline here yesterday. The trial was set for Tuesday of next week.

FORGERY CHARGED IN MEXICAN ROW

Washington, March 28.—(United News).—Published reports that forged documents were the cause of the latest misunderstanding between the United States and Mexico were neither denied nor confirmed by Secretary of State Kellogg. Forged documents purporting to have been sent by Secretary of State Kellogg to American Ambassador Sheffield, at Mexico City, intimating possibilities of a break between Mexico and this country, have been placed in President Calles' hands, the report said. The secretary of state refused to discuss the report, but announced he might have a formal statement to make later.

Tensity Increases. Although the accuracy of the report could not be ascertained, state department officials make no secret of alleged rifling of diplomatic pouches en route to Mexico City, which has further strained American-Mexican relations.

Recently Ambassador Sheffield reported to the state department that certain Mexican officials seemed to have secret official information before it was received in his office. This led to an investigation and an employee, said to be in close touch with Mexican officials, was discharged. Special couriers were employed to carry confidential messages to Mexico City, and when these became known to Mexicans other couriers were used.

Secrecy Maintained. War-time secrecy was enacted at the state department, with all stenographic notebooks locked up at night, department of justice agents placed on duty in the department office building, and waste baskets searched for discarded notes.

Secretary of State Kellogg was in conference at the white house, but whether the Mexican difficulties were discussed could not be learned. Following Mexican Ambassador Tellez's hurried trip to Mexico City, he returned with a "personal message" from President Calles to President Coolidge, the contents of which was not revealed.

It has been reported here that Mexican officials recent activities of an attaché to the American embassy at Mexico City. The attaché is said to have confidential Mexican military information in his possession.

CURIOUS PROVISION IN WILL CUTS SUM GIVEN TO WOMAN

New York, March 28.—By a curious provision in his will, E. Frank, member of the New York Stock Exchange, payments to be made to Miss Phoebe Lee were arranged in a gradually decreasing scale, so that the longer Frank lived the less Miss Lee received. The document provided that should Frank die before January, 1927, Miss Lee was to receive $17,000; if he died during January, $12,100; during February, $11,300; during March, $10,500; during April, $9,700; during May, $8,900, and so on down to August, 1927. After August 31 she would have received nothing.

As Frank died last Wednesday Miss Lee is a beneficiary under the will to the extent of $10,500. He left also $10,000 to the Federation of Jewish Philanthropic societies, $10,000 to the Hebrew-Orphan asylum and $15,000 to such charitable institutions as his executors may designate.

A sister, Mrs. Rita S. Katzenberg, receives the residue of the estate, the amount of which is not estimated.

M A N MAROONED IN TREE 26 HOURS AS BOAT CAPSIZES

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) Princeton, Ind., March 28.—Marooned in the top of a half-submerged tree for 26 hours after his boat overturned in the flooded district between Long Pond and White River, Edward Hines, 50, Vincennes fisherman, was rescued by Otis Antheis and Elza White, of Patoka, who heard Hines calling for help and went to his aid in a boat. The current and high wind made rescue difficult. Hines, suffering from exposure, was taken to a neighboring farm house on high ground. Hines had been living in a tent near the river. When water entered his tent he took to the boat. Three hundred yards from the tent the boat overturned and Hines barely managed to reach the tree into which he climbed. The tent and boat, with their contents, all of Hines' possessions, were lost.

RED CROSS UNITS HELPING VICTIMS OF RIVER FLOODS

Washington, March 28.—(P)—Disaster relief units of the American Red Cross are mobilizing to care for flood victims along the southern Mississippi and its tributaries. "In Artonish, Miss., 60 miles south of Natchez, conditions were said to be acute with 400 persons in need of aid," said the Red Cross. "National headquarters here has communicated with army officials at nearby stations, requesting that tents be shipped immediately to the disaster point with a view to establishing a refugee camp in the hills." "Appeals for aid have been received also from Marksville and Angola, La., where the waters are rising rapidly. At Angola 18 tenant families were homes and it was feared that 28 families will be forced to abandon their homes this week. The waters were backing up at Marksville, threatening 150 families."

South and West Political Union Urged by Hefflin

Des Moines, Iowa, March 28.—(United News).—The south and west should unite to elect their own president and fight the forces of the east that are opposing farm relief, according to Senator J. Thomas Hefflin, of Alabama.

"The east is not interested in good prices for the farmers of the west or for the cotton growers of the south," Senator Hefflin said Monday in an address before the Iowa house of representatives. "A union of these two sections is imperative if the powerful opposition of the east is to be overcome."

"There is no excuse for hard times in the west or in the sunny south-land," the senator from Alabama said, "but only the favored few are prosperous, while the great mass of the producers are writhing in poverty."

ITALIAN AVIATOR WILL LEAVE CUBA FOR NEW ORLEANS

Havana, March 28.—Commander Francesco Depinedo, Italian aviator, has completed his flight from Europe through South and Central America, and will hop off at 6 a. m. Tuesday for New Orleans, his first stop in the United States. Five thousand Cubans and 50 black-shirted fascists, representatives of fascist organizations in Cuba, Santo Domingo and Porto Rico, shouted a noisy welcome to the flyer as he arrived at the waterfront Monday, escorted by three Cuban army planes. He had completed the trip from Port au Prince, Haiti, in seven hours and had enjoyed good weather and fine flying en route according to his statement to the United News.

FREEDOM IS NEAR FOR DR. KNUTE HOUCK

Washington, March 28.—Mrs. Knute Houck, wife of a former government psychiatrist, whose body was found floating in the Anacostia river near here, came to her death in a "manner unknown," a coroner's jury decided today. Dr. Houck, who has been held at Albany, Oregon, probably will be released. United States District Attorney Gordon stated he would not request that Houck be detained longer. The district attorney is undecided whether he will present the case to the grand jury. Mrs. Houck disappeared December 15. No intimation as to her fate was revealed until according to her body was found in the river three months later.

RADIO HEARINGS TO START TODAY

Washington, March 28.—(P)—Finding room in the crowded ether channels without undue disturbance to the 733 broadcasting stations now in operation in the United States, is the goal of the federal radio commission, which will open public hearings tomorrow with a view to obtaining a starting point.

Testimony at the hearings to be attended by representatives of the National Association of Broadcasters, the Radio Manufacturers' association, the Listeners' league, and others, will be considered by the commission in formulating its general policy. No specific complaints will be heard, the intention being to discuss first all the general phases of the admittedly tangled problem.

The first angle to be taken up will be proposals for widening existing wave bands, now set between 200 and 550 meters, by permitting the use of bands between 150 and 200 meters, the field now used by approximately 18,000 amateur broadcasters. What ever expansion is undertaken will have to be directed toward the lower wave bands, since the higher bands are used by ships for S. O. S. signals and other purposes.

Other proposals on which testimony will be heard will have to do with limitation of power for broadcasting purposes. It has been suggested that to provide additional wave lengths the present separation of 10 kilocycles between broadcasting channels be reduced to seven, but this phase is said to involve many engineering difficulties.

Chain broadcasting also will come in for attention, and after a study of the general sentiment of all concerned, as expressed at the public hearings and by letter from those who cannot attend, the commission hopes to begin the issuance of new licenses by May 1.

DON'T permit off-color teeth to mar your smile. Study attractive people, men or women. Note the tremendous part gleaming, clear teeth play.

And don't believe your teeth are naturally dull or colorless. With proper daily care, the new way, you can work a transformation in your mouth.

Modern science has found a new way in tooth and gum care, different from all ordinary pastes and dentifrices. A way different from any you have ever known. Just send the coupon for a 10-day test.

Simply a film

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film, a viscous coat that covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth—and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolora-tions and gives your teeth a cloudy "off-color" look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and gum disorders.

Tooth troubles and gum troubles now are largely traced to that film. Old-time methods fail in successfully combating it. That's why, regardless of the care you take now, your teeth remain dull and unattractive—your gums soft and toneless.

New methods remove it and Firm the Gums

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has provided effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it, then to firm the gums.

What you see when that film is removed—the whiteness of your teeth—will amaze you.

You Pay No more, no less... but Quaker Oats has the flavor

THE difference in breakfast oats is in their flavor. The price mostly is the same.

Millions demand the Quaker brand because of its tasty, wonderful flavor. For flavor is the important point in food.

Some 50 years were spent perfecting that famous Quaker flavor. Once you taste it, you are spoiled for ordinary oats.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Protein, carbohydrates and vitamins, and "bulk" are thus combined to make Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

Get Quick Quaker (cooks in 2 1/2 to 5 minutes) or Quaker Oats today at your grocer. See how much finer tomorrow's breakfast will be than today's.

SPRAYED RUBBER WEB CORD FLAT BAND METHOD

Q. Why is the Rubber from the United States Rubber Plantations especially strong and flexible?

A. Rubber responds to scientific growing methods, just as wheat, cotton and farm crops do.

From first to last, rubber is grown for quality on these Plantations. Seed is selected for quality. The trees are bud-grafted—for quality. They are fertilized for quality—cultivated constantly and clean. Consequently, they yield exceptionally fine latex, which gives stronger and more flexible rubber, and better tires.

The United States Rubber Plantations enjoy an international reputation as the headquarters of scientific rubber cultivation.

EVOLUTION FOES TO CONVENE HERE

Leading fundamentalists of the country will gather in Atlanta for the week of May 1 to 8 for the ninth international convention of the World's Christian Fundamentalist association, it was announced yesterday at a luncheon given at the Ansley hotel in honor of W. B. Riley, of Minneapolis, president and founder of the association.

The luncheon was attended by about 20 of the city's leading ministers and laymen, all of whom pledged their support toward making the convention here one of the most successful ever held by the association. Eugene Cawley, who presided, will within a few days appoint committees to have charge of completing local arrangements for a week of meetings which, it is believed, will be attended by between 4,000 and 6,000 persons.

The convention in Atlanta will be for the purpose of bringing to focus the opposition of the fundamentalists to what they hold to be the dangerous encroachment of a pseudo-scientific modernism into the church, the schools and the press.

Notable figures in the world of religion, science and business have already accepted places on the program. Standing committees, which for the past year have been making exhaustive studies of the advance of modernistic thinking and its effects, especially the school and colleges, will make their reports.

Mr. Riley, who gave an outline of the aims and methods of the association, announced that he had challenged Clarence Darrow, Scotch trial lawyer and well-known atheist, to a debate on evolution, and hoped to see acceptance from Mr. Darrow within a few days.

WARSHIPS WAIT; CONSULATES CLOSE

fense of the French concession, Consul General Naggiar, who presided, said that there was no reason to infer that the French concession was less prepared for defense than the rest of the foreign settlement. According to the French naval authorities, he added, sufficient forces would be available in any emergency. The consul general also said that complete defensive cooperation existed between the French concession and the rest of the foreign settlement.

A mass meeting was held this afternoon by Japanese residents of the foreign settlement. A resolution was adopted thanking the foreign forces for the protection accorded the Japanese.

Refugees from Nanking brought additional stories of the rioting there last week.

Doctor's Life Threatened.
Dr. Frank Price, of Richmond, Va., 62-year-old professor of theology at Nanking Theological seminary, who was taken to a hospital suffering from ptomaine poisoning, gave a graphic account of his narrow escape from death at the hands of nationalist soldiers in Nanking.

He said that the looting began Thursday morning and continued all day. He himself, after being robbed, was threatened with death by a young soldier. His cook interfered, and wrestled with the looter for possession of a sword, while an old coolie long employed by the professor knelt weeping and begged for his employer's life.

Later the professor was taken in hand by a squad of soldiers who ordered him to kneel to be shot. A neighbor intervened and arguments began over money payments.

Professor Seized Again.
A nationalist doctor then took him from the hands of the soldiers, and the respite was short, for the professor was seized again.

This was the closest call of all, Dr. Price said. "The soldier said that, although I was an American, I was his enemy. He drew his gun. I seized it and we struggled. With the help of two students, danger was averted." After nine hours in the hands of the soldiers, Professor Price was released and made his way to the Nanking university, where other refugees had concentrated.

Madame Caplain, French wife of an official in the Chinese postoffice, who remained at Nanking a day later than the other refugees, also went through harrowing experiences, but escaped with her life and arrived here today.

"We Want Blood."
She said that when the attack on the foreigners was at its height, the Chinese soldiers yelled "We want to kill. We want blood." An old French priest, she said, who had been 40 years in China, told her that the Nanking outbreak of anti-foreign feeling was worse than that of the boxer uprising in 1900.

Mme. Caplain said that everything was quiet after the bombardment by the British and American warships, but that on the next night there was a wholesale looting of the better class Chinese houses. She declared that the lowest types of Chinese seemed to be armed.

WASHINGTON REASSURED BY LATE REPORTS.

BY RAYMOND CAPPER.
Staff Correspondent.

Washington, March 28.—(United News.)—The "battle of the concessions" in China will be fought, if not by the sword, then by the pen. Chinese mobs want to settle it by force. For a time it appeared as if they might have their way. But reports today were more reassuring to officials. Fighting, bloodshed, massacre and all of the horrible attendant outrages may be averted. At least that is the hope here.

But even so, the battle is only transferred from the soldiers to the diplomats. For China is awake and intends to fight the battle to regain the concessions by one means or another.

The military situation around Shanghai which has a menacing aspect over the weekend was easier today. Chinese mobs apparently have been held in check. Cantonese Foreign Ministers then have expressed sinere regret for the loss of American life in Nanking, the state's partment announced.

However, all danger is not over and the 1,500 marines now being concentrated for duty in China will begin their trip to San Diego, Cal., tomorrow and Wednesday. They will embark on the transport Henderson at San Diego early next week.

Consulates Closed.
American Minister MacMurray, at Peking, has ordered the closing of the American consulates at Chang Sha and Chungking as soon as Americans have been evacuated.

The American consul general at Canton is warning all Americans there and in the suburbs to be prepared for immediate evacuation. Those in the interior are being urged to proceed to Hongkong as soon as possible.

Three American destroyers have been sent to various ports in China to gather up refugees. Rear Admiral Williams, in command of the American Asiatic fleet, has sent the destroyer Bulmer to Amoy, the Edsall to Swatow, and the Preble to Kiangyin.

FIRM STAND PLANNED BY BRITAIN IN CHINA.

London, March 28.—(AP)—The British cabinet decided today to take a firm stand in China and to make no further concessions there until the present "anarchical" conditions have ended and the Chinese authorities have proved themselves capable of establishing order.

Leaving a two-hour meeting of the cabinet ministers in Downing street, Foreign Secretary Chamberlain crossed to the house of commons and there assured the members that there would be no further surrender of British rights in China until the Chinese could preserve order wherever their authority exists.

Sir Austen declared that the action of the two American bluejackets who signalled the American and British warships in the Yangtze to open fire on Cantonese looters at Nanking last Thursday, and the resulting fire had saved the lives of the foreign refugees on Socony Hill.

SOVIETIZED MONGOL ARMY ENTERING TURKISTAN.

(Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Peking, March 28.—The governor of Chinese Turkistan has notified Peking that a sovietized Mongol army, under Russian instructors, is entering there.

Marshal Chang Tso-Lin is starting to sound the powers on the extent of their support in the event of his severing relations with Russia. A messenger of soviet embassy was arrested for delivering a circular to the Peking guides calling the kuomintang leaders and followers to an assembly.

ULTIMATUM IS SENT TO CHINA BY JAPAN.

London, March 28.—(United News.)—A protest by Japan amounting to an ultimatum has been sent to the Chinese government, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from its Tokyo correspondent.

The protest followed wireless reports of the killing of two Japanese during the recent Nanking incident. According to the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express the situation at Wuhu is causing alarm. Following repeated attacks on Americans and Britishers, says the correspondent, the Cantonese have mounted heavy guns on hills overlooking the city and also in such a position as to enable them to fire on British and American ships anchored in the river.

RESTORATION OF PEACE DEMANDED BY FRANCE.

(United News.)

Peace must be restored in Shanghai before the French government will discuss the status of the foreign concession.

cessions with Chinese nationalists, government authorities said Monday.

FRANCE WILL SEND NEW FORCE TO CHINA.

Paris, March 28.—(AP)—French reinforcements have been ordered from Tonkin, Annam, to support the already sizeable French force now protecting France's concession in Shanghai.

The reinforcements will consist of white colonial troops plus a force of Annamites who are considered here the most loyal colonial troops and incapable of being swayed by Cantonese propaganda.

COLLEGE OFFICIALS PLAN EVACUATION.

New York, March 28.—(AP)—Immediate evacuation of Canton Christian college and the entire foreign settlement of Shumien in the city of Canton loomed as a possibility today in a cablegram received at the New York office of the college, which said:

"Because of the Nanking and Bias bay incidents several days ago, when Chinese hitrares were driven off Bias bay by British naval forces, considerable apprehension is felt at Shumien. So far, all is quiet, but the general situation is considered critical and immediate evacuation may be necessary."

JAIL TERMS GIVEN TO THEATER MEN

the workhouse for exhibiting "The Virgin Man."

This was only the beginning, the censors warned, as they turned their attention toward that other alleged offender of common decency, Mae West's "Sex."

Dugan, Cohan and Kromberg received sentences of 10 days apiece and fines of $250 each, after having been found guilty by decision of three justices in special sessions of violating public decency and maintaining a nuisance. Suspended sentences were passed upon the seven actors and actresses in the cast.

World of the verdict snapped across the hall like an electric spark to general sessions court where Mae West, actress-author of "Sex" and her cohorts in producing art for the masses were eyeing the jury that will begin deciding Tuesday whether they'll go to jail, too.

Although the cast of "The Virgin Man" escaped the workhouse, they did not escape finger printing. The dainty whorls of Dorothy Hall and Virginia Smith, were added to the municipal collection along those of the late Gyp the Hood and Cat-Eye Annie. The police will know next time, though they be disguised as Topsy and Eva.

Georgia Glee Club Thrills Big Crowd at Annual Concert

BY LOYD A. WILHOIT.

There was a blaze of red and black and a lusty shouting of "Glory to Old Georgia" out at the Woman's club auditorium Tuesday night, when Atlanta forsook business and bridge to renew old college ties at the annual performance of the University of Georgia Glee club.

Hugh Hodgson, who knows his piano like the average man knows his bread and beans, had the training of the club in charge—which is just one of many ways of saying that the Georgia Glee club is a very good glee club, whether you're a Georgia man or not.

The young men who stood up straight and sang their hearts out in plaintive melody; the smiling fellows who picked away manfully at mandolins and guitars; the swaying youths who tore off jazz music; the burnt-cork end men who drew out jokes just like Al G. Field's best comedians—all were there, contributing their bit to an evening of real entertainment to the full audience that greeted the Athens-gee boys.

And, too, the management—not satisfied with following the old, beaten paths—presented something new. This was in the form of a couple of amateur tumbler muscled like steers and flying through the air in such precarious manner that the audience was sure they would break their necks. But they didn't—which also added to the evening's enjoyment.

Get Audience Whistling.

The program of the Georgia club opened with a series of semi-classic vocal choruses, and swung swiftly and smoothly into the happy-go-lucky sort of college music and frolic that you expect at a glee club show. After the chorus had done particularly well with Schubert's "Serenade" and several other beautiful numbers, and after the tumbler—Cree Stellings and John Hodgson—had done their stuff, there were a couple of burlesques on "Macbeth" and "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" which this writer quite candidly didn't think was up to the form set by the rest of the show. A big percentage of the audience seemed to get a decided kick out of the act, however, so there's no quarrel with the management for including them on the bill.

And then came the Bulldog orchestra, which you've heard if you shake a hoof in the throes of the Princeton "Boys" or whatever they are dancing nowadays. The orchestra as usual was good and better than that. The audience liked it and called it back several times. "Put Your Arms Where They Belong" was particularly effective, and the young men who sang the refrain had the audience whistling it after the show.

Bill Knockout.

Saving the best for the last, the club came back after the intermission with "the royal high court of the Red and Black," which, to my certain knowledge, has been a part of the program of every Georgia glee club since the days when the writer warbled sweetly in the chorus—which is more years ago than he cares to talk about.

From the opening chorus of Georgia songs to the closing chorus, which also rambled merrily into Athens melodies, the act was a knockout. A member of the glee club whose name wasn't mentioned on the bill sang "In a Little Spanish Town" in such a way as to make you wonder why they didn't make him sing frequently, and Mr. Snelling again made a hit with "Hello, Little Girl, Hello."

Dan Tully, "Slim" Matthews, "Shorty" Higgins and Harry Talmadge were a clever quartet of end men, two of whom doubled back into the entire act with a laughable turn. Mr. Tully brought the house down with his rendition of "Sadie Green," and "Slim" Matthews got a big hand with his jokes.

The instrumental club showed careful training, offering several difficult selections in thoroughly satisfactory style. It was a good show—one that reflects credit on Georgia and the men who staged it and Mr. Hodgson—and Atlanta hopes it will keep coming back.

WHITE YOUTH ROBS DRUG STORE OWNER AT PISTOL POINT

After calmly consuming a soda fountain drink at a drug store at 137 Georgia avenue and puffing leisurely on a cigarette, a young unidentified white man late Monday night finished a pistol on the proprietor, Dr. Harry Rudich, forced him into a back room and rifled the cash register of $20, according to a police report.

The store was empty of other patrons at the time Dr. Rudich reported. After having drained the glass of soda, the youth slowly drew the pistol and said: "Stick 'em up and get out of the way while I gather a little dough."

Dr. Rudich described the robber as being about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, slight of build, and clad in a light gray suit and gray hat. Officers M. D. Langstaff and E. E. Brackett responded to the police call.

LIFE STORY TOLD BY AARON SAPIRO

Detroit, March 28.—(United News.) Aaron Sapiro has taken his million dollar libel suit against Henry Ford into his own hands.

The Jewish attorney's line of attack was indicated late Monday afternoon when he had his counsel put him on the witness stand and began reviewing the history of his far-flung operations as an organizer of farmers' co-operatives.

Sapiro hopes to explain his connection with these concerns and in this way prove that he was not, as Henry Ford charged in his magazine, seeking to set himself up as czar of the world's food industries for his own profit.

There was a twinkle in the young attorney's eye as he settled himself comfortably in the witness chair. He prompted his attorneys on several occasions to "make the questions clearer" and at one time he swung into his answers with such rapidity that Senator James A. Reed, chief of the Ford counsel, uttered a protest.

"This witness answers so rapidly I have no time to object," Reed remarked to the court.

"A little more deliberation would be well," said Judge Raymond.

"Either that," said William Henry Gallagher, of Sapiro's legal staff, "or a little more speed on the part of the senior."

Encourages Sapiro.
Earlier in the afternoon session of the trial, now in its third week, Judge Raymond had encouraged Sapiro by denying the Ford lawyers' motion to declare the case a mistrial because of amended pleadings filed by the plaintiff. Ford's attorneys fought bitterly for several hours but lost the argument.

After the ruling the small, suave Sapiro seemed eager to give his version of the various cooperative enterprises in which he had taken part. He seemed confident that if allowed to explain these affairs in his own way he could show that the attacks on him by the Independent were libelous and that he would win the million dollar verdict which has become his goal.

Starting with his boyhood and early education Sapiro said he had attended school in Oakland and San Francisco, later becoming an instructor in his history at the University of Cincinnati. Returning to California he studied law and after practicing a few months became secretary of the California Industrial Accident board.

Sapiro said he first became interested in cooperative marketing through contact with David Lubin and Colonel Harris Weinstock, of California, reading extensively in their library. In 1915 when the colonel became market director of California Sapiro served as his volunteer legal advisor without pay.

"The first instance where I acted professionally for farmers was in 1916 when I represented the poultry raisers in organizing," Sapiro said. The owners of one million hens were signed up before we formed the cooperative. Then I became counsel for the poultry men.

From this beginning Sapiro said he branched out, organizing and advising the following in all parts of the country:

The California Prune and Apricot Growers; the California Berry Growers (mostly Chinese); California Pear Growers; California Bean and Fruit Growers and the Milk Producers association; Washington and Idaho Potato Growers; Oregon Prune Growers; Mississippi Staple Cotton association; cotton growers of Oklahoma, North and South Carolina and Texas; tobacco growers of Virginia and Kentucky; wheat growers of Kansas, Nebraska, Dakota and Oklahoma; wheat growers of Saskatchewan and Manitoba and the potato growers of Maine, Minnesota and Colorado.

Sapiro was just getting wound-up when court adjourned. It is estimated that his testimony will require all of Tuesday and perhaps extend well into Wednesday.

bullet wounds in her body and her condition was declared to be serious. The shooting occurred at the Jones farm near Stewart, 22 miles from here.

Ira Jones, 50, the father, was shot while he lay sleeping. The mother was also in bed when fired upon. Officers who approached the house said the girl appeared demented, threatening to shoot the first man to come inside.

Mrs. Jones, lying on a hospital bed, corroborated her daughter's story, but later denied it, saying that there had been a man with whom her husband had quarreled about the daughter, who had committed the act. The mother refused to divulge the name of the man.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—(adv.)

FOR SKIN IRRITATIONS

Miami, Fla., July 16, 1926

I used to think of Pluto Water only as a laxative to be used in times of emergency. Following the advice of my doctor, however, I commenced some time ago to take a small quantity each morning in a glass of hot water. Previously I had tried different so-called preventatives of constipation, but none of them gave the continued good results that Pluto Water has given. I cannot recommend it too highly.

P. D. Camm

For many years I lived constantly in the dread of constipation, exerting the greatest care over my selection of food and worrying considerably about my condition. Some time ago Pluto was recommended to me, and I found it the best corrective I had ever used. Upon the advice of my doctor, I now take a small quantity of Pluto each morning in hot water and find it an unequalled preventative. I am looking and feeling 100% better since following this treatment.

Mrs. M. M. Redman

WASH away constipation

Doctors proclaim the value of this better method.

THIS fact will surely interest you. It relates to a certain widely-used laxative. That laxative is Pluto Water. Millions of people recognize the value of Pluto's reliable, quick action. Yet few realize just why Pluto performs so efficiently. Doctors, knowing the reason, have prescribed Pluto Water for almost a generation. Here is what they know:

Pluto, being a water laxative, washes the intestines. It does not drug the system. It loosens, cleans and flushes the waste accumulations. Its action is natural and harmless.

"But," you may ask, "if that is true, why will the ordinary drinking water have the same effect?" The answer is clearly understood by medical science. Ordinary water is quickly absorbed, and excreted by the kidneys.

Pluto Water, on the other hand, has a mineral content that exceeds the mineral content of the blood. Hence, Pluto is practically "absorption-proof". It passes intact through the stomach and intestines.

Gently, yet surely and quickly, Pluto Water flushes away the poisonous waste. Stubborn constipation is relieved in 30 minutes to two hours after drinking Pluto. Health is safeguarded. There is not the slightest griping, and no habit-forming tendency. The action is pleasant, prompt and complete.

A small quantity of Pluto Water daily will keep you regular and in tip-top condition. And for emergency use, nothing else is so effective. Sold at all drug counters and at fountains. Bottled at the springs, French Lick, Ind.

OFFICER LEAVES TO SECURE LOVETT

While Special Investigator W. A. (Dolph) Riley, of the solicitor's staff, was en route Monday night to Lake Village, Ark., armed with requisition papers for the return here of Ralph B. Lovett, fugitive under indictment for the murder of Bert Donaldson, Solicitor Boykin and his aides Monday were assembling the mass of evidence in the case preparatory to questioning the prisoner at length upon his arrival.

The solicitor has already expressed himself as having sufficient evidence to convict Lovett, implicated in the murder plot by Charles Hubert Fitchett, who confessed to having fired the shots which snuffed out the life of the noted bunco sleuth. The description of the prisoner arrested Saturday night by Sheriff C. Merritt, of Lake Village fits that of the fugitive wanted, the solicitor said, and there is little doubt that the right man is being held.

When informed of action taken by counsel for Lovett in filing protest before Governor Martineau, of Arkansas, against the granting of extradition for the murder suspect, Solicitor Boykin expressed the opinion that Lovett was the murder fugitive and said that he did not contemplate any trouble in securing his extradition. Investigator Riley carried with him necessary information connecting Lovett with the slaying.

Investigator Riley left Atlanta Monday after securing from Governor Clifford Walker the necessary requisition papers which were drawn early Monday by attaches in the solicitor's office. There was no delay in securing the papers as Solicitor Boykin apparently is very anxious that the investigator reach Lake Village before Lovett makes other moves to secure his release.

Lovett emphatically denied that he had any connection with the slaying of Donaldson and claimed he was not in Atlanta at the time of the murder. He was arrested at the home of a relative in the Arkansas city, following a tip from Solicitor Boykin that Lovett was known to be in the vicinity. He offered no resistance, Sheriff Merritt stated.

With Lovett's arrest only three others indicated as the result of Fitchett's confession in which he implicated seven other men, alleged members of Atlanta gambling and bootleg rings, are fugitives. They are Abe Nissenbaum, alias "Spark Plug"; U. D. Jones, alias "Whitey" Jones, and Ed Lee Thompson, alias Ed Lee, Jack Lance, Ike Sneed and Flim King, also under indictment, are being held in Fulton tower. Fitchett, who confessed to the murder, is being held in the Hamilton county jail in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

EXTRADITION HEARING ASKED FOR LOVETT

Little Rock, Ark., March 28.—(AP)—County Judge Harry E. Cook of Chicot county, today requested Governor Martineau to set a date some time next week for an extradition hearing requested by Ralph B. Lovett, 28, held at Lake Village as a suspect in the Bert Donaldson murder case.

Governor Martineau replied that the request for extradition had not been formally received. It is expected to reach the capital tomorrow.

The delay was asked in order that the sheriff's office may procure papers from Chicago and Atlanta.

Lovett came under suspicion soon after Donaldson was killed in a room in a fashionable hotel at Atlanta, according to Solicitor General John A. Boykin. He was among eight men indicted following an alleged confession by Charles H. Fitchett.

He was arrested on a warrant declaring him a fugitive from justice. Though he is in the custody of an officer, he has never been jailed. Judge Cook said he knew nothing of a reported effort to instigate habeas corpus proceedings.

Lovett admits he is the man under indictment, but denies any part in the slaying of Donaldson, according to Judge Cook.

MAN LAYS TROUBLE TO "BAD COMPANY" IN FACING JUDGE

Bad company landed Jack Swain, recently released from the federal penitentiary, back into the toils of federal officers, he told United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter Monday in a preliminary hearing on narcotic charges. Swain was held for the grand jury under $200 bond.

Swain told Commissioner Ledbetter that after he left the penitentiary he started running with the "same old gang," and "I just couldn't resist."

Swain was caught by federal narcotic officers in the alleged act of selling narcotics to a man who appeared in commissioner's court as a witness. No charges were made against field.

Pimples, Boils, Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

It suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and full of life with energy."—Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—(adv.)

ENVOY OF FRANCE GREET'S COOLIDGE

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Optimistic references to France's war debt to the United States were exchanged today between President Coolidge and Paul Claudet, when the new French ambassador presented his credentials at the temporary white house.

Claudet expressed pleasure at entering upon his duties at the moment when France has given fresh evidence of her firm intention to discharge her indebtedness and meet her just obligations.

"Coolidge declared the sympathy and admiration of this country has been aroused by the manner in which France has faced the questions arising from the aftermath of the war, and the recent token of determination of the French republic to continue in that course has been received here as a characteristic symbol of its spirit."

Both the president and the ambassador referred to American participation in the world war. M. Claudet declared France "takes pride in the fact that in two centuries of history that does not extend over four generations her destinies were at one with those of the United States in a clear perception and brave defense of justice and right. She will forever recognize her share of the assistance given and of the blood so generously shed."

with the officers, the three men were silent most of the way, discussing briefly subjects foreign to the murder of E. B. Hogan.

Occasionally, the officers stated, they would ask questions that might involve them in the crime, but they denied all knowledge of the shooting and many other connecting details that the officers had obtained.

They were informed that finger prints on the sedan car which they used at the time Hogan was killed, tallied with the finger prints of one of their number. Still they refused to admit participation in the murder.

At Death Scene.
Driving in on the Dixie highway, 10 miles from the city, the Bibb county deputies ordered the car to slow down. When they reached the little road leading to the scene of the murder, the car turned in. The car was brought to a stop on the very spot where Hogan was shot.

"Does this place look natural to you?" suggested one of the officers. "It was bright moonlight when you were here before."

The officers stated that the men appeared to be extremely nervous. They could not sit still. They wanted to leave.

But the officers continued their questions and the men with denials. Finally Kenton spoke. "You'd be surprised if I told you all that I knew," he said. Then he briefly gave his version of the affair.

The car was speeded up. The men were taken to the jail, separated and each questioned under separate and apart. When they came through with a confession.

Up to that time the three men had maintained that they were innocent of the charge of murder, but admitted that they had stolen a number of automobiles after escaping from a Florida chain gang some 10 miles south of Macdon, Georgia, on March 15, the day before Hogan was murdered.

All three youths, following the confession, pleaded guilty to the murder of Mrs. Eva Tanner, young widow in the Bibb jail, and begged her forgiveness. She was Hogan's companion the night he was killed.

"I am sorry for all that's happened," young Hall told the widow, who has been incarcerated in the Bibb jail for more than a week, under a charge of murder.

"Well, what did you do it for?" she asked them with a weakened voice, and tears flowing freely from her eyes.

"To hold you up," the youth replied. "Not for just money."

Widow Released.
"I hope God will save you," Mrs. Tanner replied as she turned sharply, suppressing her tears, and walked to her freedom.

The motive was robbery and "nothing else," all three youths said this afternoon.

"We saw that we were running out of money, and intended holding up a filling station when we arrived in Macdon that night, but we didn't see any that would do. Someone suggested that we hold up a couple that were 'petting,' so we proceeded out that road. When we came to that little road we saw two cars parked over there. One of the boys suggested that these be our victims. We went up to that little road, passed the car in which the Hogan and Mrs. Tanner were sitting, and turned around some 200 yards further up."

According to the statements made by all three youths this afternoon, they drove the stolen Willingham sedan car, alongside the Hogan car, flashed on the bright lights, and Hall, the youngest one of the trio, jumped out.

"Hall jumped out and threw the pistol in Hogan's face, and demanded money," said Kenton. "Hogan made an attempt to snatch the pistol from the youth's hand. I saw that he was nervous and that the pistol was cocked. I made an effort here to wrench the weapon from Hall's hand and the pistol accidentally fired."

"Who snatched the curtain from the Hogan car?" one of the deputies asked.

"Hall snatched the curtain back, and all the time I was sitting in the car," said Kenton.

"He was behind the car trying to 'pacify' the woman. She was screaming and Shrayner was trying to get her quiet."

The men told the whole story and declared that it was "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," and that the confessions were made freely and voluntarily and without hope of reward.

"Why didn't you rob Hogan after you had killed him?" Kenton was asked.

"Because there was no need to rob him after the pistol had gone off."

no part whatsoever in government and scarcely knew what was taking place. Today, boycotting and striking is general. Moreover, the age-honored state of woe and grief has undergone a change and today we find them being educated and they are represented in almost every action that takes place.

Another thing incidentals have a difficult time in understanding is that patriotism plays no part whatsoever in the present fighting, so far at least as the rank and file is concerned. Soldiers and sailors will fight for any cause whatsoever so long as wages are acceptable. Whole armies have been known to go over to an opponent simply because the opponent offered greater inducements.

"Taking all these things into consideration the present situation in China presents a different light. It is my personal opinion that the majority of Chinese are not in sympathy with anti-foreign sentiment, individually. They are, however, bitterly opposed to the present concession system and with good cause."

"And now we approach the material cause for the actual uprising in force today, which may prove to be only the opening chapter in a series of historic pages. Foreign concessions are a sore spot in the Chinese anatomy. European and outside companies have been permitted to exploit the country with abandon. So pronounced did this become that Chinese criminals could scurry to foreign concessions with stolen money and flaunt their own rulers and defy them."

"Then again, foreigners, after the boxer rebellion, exacted a demand which provided that China could not raise or lower her import and export taxes without consulting the powers. Then, during the world war while the powers were engaged in Europe, Japan cleverly issued her notorious 21 demands and forced China to agree to them temporarily. This was the final straw and, indirectly, was the cause of the 25-cabier pistol as one of the other was examined as to this phase of the trip."

There were discrepancies also as to the last under continued and grueling cross-examination by officers and newspapermen. Their narratives as to their course, after breaking from a Florida prison camp, where they were serving sentences for felonies committed in that state, however, were great. All admitted that Edward Kenton, who was in charge of the escape, were Hall and Shrayner, Kenton having an infected hand, were held up by a companion of the 25-cabier pistol as one of the other was examined as to this phase of the trip.

no part whatsoever in government and scarcely knew what was taking place. Today, boycotting and striking is general. Moreover, the age-honored state of woe and grief has undergone a change and today we find them being educated and they are represented in almost every action that takes place.

Another thing incidentals have a difficult time in understanding is that patriotism plays no part whatsoever in the present fighting, so far at least as the rank and file is concerned. Soldiers and sailors will fight for any cause whatsoever so long as wages are acceptable. Whole armies have been known to go over to an opponent simply because the opponent offered greater inducements.

Dr. Ayer's Own Opinion.
"Taking all these things into consideration the present situation in China presents a different light. It is my personal opinion that the majority of Chinese are not in sympathy with anti-foreign sentiment, individually. They are, however, bitterly opposed to the present concession system and with good cause."

"And now we approach the material cause for the actual uprising in force today, which may prove to be only the opening chapter in a series of historic pages. Foreign concessions are a sore spot in the Chinese anatomy. European and outside companies have been permitted to exploit the country with abandon. So pronounced did this become that Chinese criminals could scurry to foreign concessions with stolen money and flaunt their own rulers and defy them."

"Then again, foreigners, after the boxer rebellion, exacted a demand which provided that China could not raise or lower her import and export taxes without consulting the powers. Then, during the world war while the powers were engaged in Europe, Japan cleverly issued her notorious 21 demands and forced China to agree to them temporarily. This was the final straw and, indirectly, was the cause of the 25-cabier pistol as one of the other was examined as to this phase of the trip."

BENEFIT ASSOCIATION OPENS SESSION HERE

Miss Frances D. Partridge, of Port Huron, Mich., supreme record keeper of the national organization of the Woman's Benefit association, was principal speaker at a meeting of the junior branch of the association Monday night at the Henry Grady hotel.

She is in Atlanta to attend the first Georgia quadrennial convention of the Women's Benefit association, the largest organization exclusively for women in the world. The convention opened at the Henry Grady hotel Monday morning and will continue through today, with another lengthy business session.

Mayor L. N. Ragland opened the Monday morning session by welcoming Miss Partridge on behalf of Atlanta to this city. More than 100 delegates were present at the Monday session.

The visitors were entertained at a luncheon Monday at the Henry Grady hotel, after which a business session was held in the afternoon.

Immediately following the program Monday night, the Frances D. Partridge class was initiated by the Atlanta officers and guards. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Pearl H. Crox, of Birmingham, Ala., deputy supreme commander of the district which comprises Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi.

The Woman's Benefit association has more than 250,000 members and an investment trust fund of over $22,000,000. The organization maintains a relief fund, a patriotic fund, a reserve fund for protection, a health and fraternal fund, summer camps, thrift funds for girls and an educational fund.

Mrs. Jennie Brown was chosen as a delegate to attend the national convention of the association in Port Huron, Mich., in July. Mrs. Willie Cheedy, of Savannah, Ga., was named as an alternate.

Following the business session to day, Mrs. Brown will entertain the visiting delegates at her home on Ramson road.

CHILDREN FLOCK TO GET HAIR CUT A LA JACKIE COOGAN

The cry of "you're next," a time-honored slogan of the barber shop, is a novelty indeed in a theater lobby, but that is the surprise Manager Thomas H. James furnished the "crow" at Loew's Grand Monday. The unique feature was given in connection with the appearance at Loew's Grand of Jackie Coogan's latest picture, "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut." Free hair cuts, "a la Coogan," was the drawing card held out by the resourceful manager to an all-day-long crowd of kids who waited to have their hair snipped off free of any charge.

Just inside the entrance of Loew's Grand lobby the barber shop was located and it was equipped with everything needed from a striped barber pole to a razor strap. A framed copy of the "Police Gazette" was placed on a chair to add atmosphere to the scene.

The barber shop in full operation in a lobby of a theater was such an unusual sight that it drew a large crowd of spectators who stood around and watched the kids get their hair cut. There were plenty of "Johnnies" on hand to get their hair cut to carry out the title of "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," the name of Jackie Coogan's latest picture, and it is probable that they will keep the barber shop the rest of the week judging from the applications for service made to the manager.

PREACHER FINED

STOCK OF LIQUOR

Jacksonville, Ore., March 28.—The Rev. M. L. Pettie, former pastor of the First Christian church at Klamath Falls, Ore., was found guilty of possessing liquor and fined $400 in justice court Monday. He was unable to pay the fine. A jury deliberated only 10 minutes in reaching its verdict.

The liquor charges were brought against Pettie, one week after he had resigned his pastorate, when officers found 60 gallons of whisky in his overturned automobile on a highway.

Jackets Take First From Generals, 6-3

Conn Hurls Tech to Victory — Errors Prove Costly to Invading Tossers in Opener.

BY HOWARD EATON.
Tech's Yellow Jacket baseball team won their fifth consecutive conference game Friday afternoon by defeating the strong nine from Washington and Lee, 6 to 3. The Generals displayed by far the best brand of ball that has been played against Tech this year. The team is composed of several good players and should not have been beaten by as large a score. Several of the runs made by Tech came by way of errors at a time when misuses meant runs.

The Jackets played good ball all the way through to the last out, making only three bobbles during the entire game. The hits were timely and three of them were of the extra base variety. Crowley played his usual good game around the hot corner, handling several hard chances perfectly.

The General started their firework in the fourth when Spotts, Washington and Lee's four-letter man, singled to left field, going to second on Stearns' single to right field. Tips filled out to Wadley and Rauber drew a free ticket to first, filling the bases. Eagle went in to hit for Ginsberg and pulled a regular home stunt by tripling to deep center field, scoring Spotts, Stearns and Rauber. He died on third when Folliard fanned the breeze three times.

Tech started scoring early in the game. After two men were out, Brewer was hit by the pitcher, Smith got on by an error and Brewer went to third and Smith took second on the throw to third to catch Brewer, who was forced to hit the dirt to make

NATIONAL TITLE HOLDER ASKED FOR RELAYS

Douglas Graydon, holder of the national interscholastic javelin throw record has been invited to participate in the annual Georgia Tech relay carnival to be held Saturday, April 3, on Grant Field. He is one of the best javelin throwers in the country and hurls the Finnish spear well over 200 feet.

Graydon hails from Little Rock, Ark., the home of Douglas Wood, one of the greatest athletes ever to be graduated from Tech and all-southern football star.

Competition in the javelin throw is going to be keen this time due to the large entry list and the many stars competing. Last year Gordon Logan won the event, hurling the spear 189 feet, 5 1/2 inches, with Smith, of Furman, second with 170 feet and A. Logan third, with 164 feet, 8 3/4 inches. From all indications these three winners will be back this season to give Graydon a run for first place.

Brewerton, the Tech entry, has been showing up well during the past few weeks and is getting better every practice as the time for the annual track classic approaches. Baskin the Auburn star will again make his appearance on Grant Field in the relays running the hurdles in addition to entering the javelin throw. Jack Curran who caught the forward pass and sprinted to a touchdown which won the Tech-Georgia game, will be the Bulldog entry in the javelin throw. Jack first dropped into the limelight at Tech High where he took many honors, not only in the javelin, but also the hurdles and the broad jump.

STAGG INVITES BASKETEERS TO MEET; REDUCES TOWN TO 68

Chicago, March 28.—(AP)—Alpine, Tenn., with no railroad trains, no electric lights, has for the time being had its population of 75 inhabitants reduced to 68.

A.T.O. Basketeers Beaten by S. A. E.

The A. T. O. Fraternity, last year's interfraternity champions at Tech, fell before the attack of the S. A. E. quint Monday afternoon in the Tech gym, 22-18. Williamson, Jordan and Von Weller, stars of the deposed champs' quint, could not collect enough goals to turn the tide of victory. Harris, Lewis and Holleman were the big guns for the S. A. E. The play of this trio was the best seen on the floor during the tourney to date.

The strong Chi Psi team snatched the Delta Tau Delta team under an avalanche of baskets for a score of 36-18. Warner, Bethel and Clait were the stars for Chi Psi, while Magana bore the brunt of the attack for the losing quint.

FENCER ACCUSES WIFE IN COURT

Los Angeles, March 28.—(AP)—Two surgeons tested today in their opinion a scar on Lieutenant Gerard de Merveaux's forehead could not have been the result of a blow from the horsewhip described by him as the weapon used upon him by Stuart Blackton, film director.

The testimony was given after an examination of de Merveaux's skill and general condition in court chambers during the day closing arguments in the trial of his suit for $250,000 damages. The suit was brought against Blackton by the Hollywood fencing master as the result of a "horse whip" described by him as the weapon used upon him by Stuart Blackton, film director.

Horace and Hubert Holman, of Vanderbilt, represented the affirmative and Roy L. Gardner, of Oglethorpe, Ga., and Frank Tippin, of Decatur, championed the negative. Professor Goodyear, of Emory, was timekeeper and Mayor D. P. Phillips presided. A large crowd heard the debate.

Debater Asked For Explanation Of His Wet Lore

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and the Chicago Tribune.)
Manhattan, Kan., March 28.—Walter Reed Gage, county attorney of Riley county, announced this afternoon he had issued a subpoena for Stanford Clinton, 19, a member of the debating team of Northwestern university who last night in a debate at the First Presbyterian church here, is alleged to have asserted that liquor could be purchased in Manhattan "in less than five minutes."

The Northwestern team which, besides Clinton, is composed of Robert Howlett and Don K. Carter, argued that the Volstead law should be repealed. A team from Kansas City, composed of Robert Holberg, Solon Kimball and Frank Morrison, had the negative side. It was a no-decision debate here, but the Northwestern debaters occasionally drew chuckles with their jibes at the national liquor law.

Many Local Fighters On Auditorium Card

Thirty-Nine Rounds of Fighting Is Booked For Fans—Main Event to Last 15 Rounds.

Six of the eight fighters who will parade before the cash customers at the city auditorium Tuesday night are Atlanta boys, and as they are appearing before the home folks they are expected to bear down in the attempt to give the customers even more than their money's worth.

Tiger Flowers, former middleweight champion of the world, is the best known of the home talent. He is scheduled to meet Soldier Jones, of New York, in the 15-round main event. That in itself is something new, as most of the main events in this town have been limited to 10 rounds.

The extra five rounds were added as a favor to Jones, who declared himself in favor of the longer distance. Although he has not given his reason for wanting the extra work it is thought that he courts the idea that the longer distance will give him more of a chance against Tiger. The latter fights at top speed, thus he loses some of his zipp and pep about about the tenth bell.

Fights Well Met.
This "Flowers" last appearance in actual combat before he tackles Mickey Walker in a return bout to be staged at New York. Flowers was relieved of his middleweight crown when he met Walker at Chicago some time ago. The title changed hands on a referee's decision, which was questionable.

The eight-round semi-windup finds Benny Regan, of Atlanta, pitted against Joe Christie, of Philadelphia. The latter is a former middleweight champion. Among the good things claimed for him are victories over some of the leading scrappers in the east.

No matter how good Christie may be, he will not find himself battling a set-up. Regan has cut quite a swath in southern pugilistic circles. His latest and most spectacular triumph was at the expense of Honey Roy Snipes, of Macon.

Two six-round bouts will be offered.

HIRAM JOHNSON KEEPS HIS HAT ON

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

More Seats for Passengers Good News for Strap-Hangers

OF COURSE, you want a seat when you get on the street car, and it's a part of GOOD SERVICE to give you a seat just as often as possible.

Unfortunately, it isn't always possible. But simply accepting the strap-hanger as inevitable and doing nothing about it isn't the kind of good service that wins good will, and we have tackled this problem also during the past five Years of Progress.

More seats for passengers has been one of the principal items in our program of improving your street car service during recent years, and this is the record which has been made:—

There are now 15 per cent more seats for passengers than before the new street cars were placed in service.

On some of the lines the number of seats has been increased 40 per cent.

Atlanta's street cars traveled fifty million more "seat-miles" in 1926 than in 1925.

(The total "seat-miles" is the number of miles traveled by the cars multiplied by their seating capacities.)

This means that, had the improvements not been made, thousands of passengers who now have seats would still be strap-hanging. In fact, as nearly as we can estimate it, it means that each of the regular car-riders rode sitting down sixty miles more during 1926 than during 1925.

This is another of the improvements in your street car service in recent years made as a part of our effort to give you the—

John Golden Wins $4,000 Southern Open Purse

Paterson Pro Shoots 70 To Beat Farrell

Quaker Ridge Professional Bags 71 But Falls One Stroke Short of Foe in Play-Off.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Putting out a buck for 18 holes of good golf is a fair enough proposition, but paying that same relatively small amount for 17 holes of drama and a balloon ascension is fairer still. That's what about 1,000 fairway fans did yesterday afternoon when the two Johnnies (Farrell and Golden) settled a matter of a few thousand dollars and a heap of prestige with the latter John winning by one stroke.

The cards show 70 for Golden and 71 for Farrell but that doesn't play half the record. Those scores were made with both players throwing a lousy five on the three par 18th and the gallery throwing everything from a plain tantrum to a cataplectic fit.

The entire round up to the last hole was a contest of steady golf against sloppy starting and scintillating recovery. Golden was as steady as Resener steel except on the last two holes, but his short game left much to be desired. The fact that the card gives Farrell eight one-putt greens out of 18 holes tells the story of the handsome Irishman's game. Johnny was in trouble almost from the first but his deadly chip shots and unflinching putter almost evened the scales against the surveyor's irons and woods played by his opponent.

The Beginning.

To begin the drama on the very first hole, Farrell missed his only short putt of the day to take a five and Golden carded a par four to go one up at the start. Then on the second the Irishman dropped his tee shot within six feet of the cup and held a deuce to even the match. Golden dropped a perfect three.

Driving from the third tee, Farrell pulled to the right and trap on the left of the fairway and just to prove that he wouldn't take an unfair advantage the Paterson pro hooked his tee shot to the same trap and within three feet of Farrell's ball. Johnny was short from the trap while Golden was in the grass trap at the edge of the green. Johnny pitched 30 feet short of the cup and Golden overran 12 feet. It looked like a halved hole but handsomeness Johnny earned his long one for a par four and Golden took two putts to go one stroke down.

Seemingly like the sea-saw business, Johnny sent his second over the green on number four and his chip back was well past the pin. He was forced to take two putts for a buzzard five, while Golden laid his second shot dead to the pin and dropped a birdie three, placing him one up.

On the fifth Johnny started his trapshooting game and when his second found the hazard at the right of the green he failed with his second to clear the lip of the bunker. He pitched his fourth to within 10 feet of the pin and his accurate putter saved him from taking a buzzard five. Golden was short of the green with his second, but his third was dead to the pin and he dropped another birdie to go two up on the pulchritudinous son of Erin.

The island hole was halved in perfect three and on the seventh Johnny made another beautiful recovery. After his second shot rolled over the green to the rough on the left he chipped to within three feet of the pin and earned his first putt for a par four. Golden made his four in the regular time.

The eighth was again halved in three and both players took birdie fours on the long ninth. Farrell was fairly on with his second, while Golden was just short of the green. The former took two putts and a chip and a putt served him to a par five. Golden turned 35-33, with Golden two strokes in the lead.

Again on the tenth Farrell was over the green with his second but a perfect chip and one putt saved him from taking a buzzard, while the Paterson money player took three putts and a five. Johnny gained one stroke on this hole. Eleven was halved in natural.

Twelve was a heart-breaker for the Farrell fans. Both were well on with their second and Johnny's first putt rimmed the cup but would not stay down. He took a four to halve the hole.

John Golden did a lot of playing with several thousand dollars on the line and when he sent his second shot to within four feet of the pin but missed the putt to halve with Johnny in perfect four.

Both players displayed more than usual fondness for the par-four fourteenth. The Quaker Ridge professional was in a trap again at the left of the green and Golden was on the rough green 40 feet from the pin. Johnny played a perfect explosion shot to within two feet of the pin while Golden's first putt was 10 feet short. Golden knew his first putt was a pellet to halve the hole and he did, without ado or unnecessary preliminary. He halved the hole in four.

Both were on the green in two on the long fifteenth and Johnny again sent his admirers into fits by rimming the cup with his first putt. Both took birdie fours.

Golden again displayed his nerve on the sixteenth when Farrell was down in four and Golden had to sink a 10-footer over a rolling green to halve the hole. He did that thing and

'BAMA WORKS HARD FOR TWO GEORGIA TILTS

BY ARNOLD FINNEFROCK.

University, Ala., March 28.—Faced by the invasion this coming Friday of the strong University of Georgia nine for a two-game series, Coach Wade intends to leave no stone unturned in getting his Crimson charges in readiness. Upon the results of these games will depend the championship hopes of either team.

Although the season has hardly gotten under way, the Crimson have shown themselves to be an in-and-out club. On one day they will look like a big league outfit, hitting and fielding in superb fashion, but on the following day they will bear a close resemblance to a high school nine.

Coach Wade will, in all probability, groom Hutton for duty in the opening tilt with the Athenians, with "Whitey" Campbell or Ted Spetz drawing the assignment on the following moundmen on last year's yearling team, are both right-handers. Spetz has a tendency to be wild at times, but with plenty of work, this present spring pace, will have no difficulty in finishing the season well in front of his mates. Jack Hayes, sensational sophomore short fielder, has also been pitched in with a hard right arm, most of his blows having been for several sacks.

It is expected that Coach Wade will send the second team against the Bulldogs, who are said to have quite a coterie of stars in their lineup.

A four-run lead in the first put the visitors well in the lead, which they held for the game, but their margin was threatened in the fifth by the Tigers, who netted five runs on four safe hits including Sexton's triple down the first-base foul line. At this point Walter, who started the game for Georgia, was relieved, and Tulley, who succeeded him, kept the situation well in hand for the Bulldogs.

Bryan, Clemson pitcher, lasted four innings before being relieved by Jones.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28.—After getting to old Grover Cleveland Alexander for four runs in the first inning, the Yankees were helpless before the veteran's slants and the St. Louis Cardinals' nose out the second game of the "spring" series, 5 to 4. A two-run rally in the ninth won for the Cards.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 28.—The Baltimore Orioles left Jackie May and Ray Kopp freely Monday and beat the Reds, 9 to 5. Wallie Pipp hit another screaming homer with a man on base.

Another run in the eighth gave the Spillerites their total score. To the seventh two hits and one error in the eighth, had been their best efforts at a score.

HAWK-EYEING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Put Through the Test.

The sap who says that a golfer doesn't need anything behind his belt buckle but an undershirt just because golf isn't a bone breaking pastime should have been in the shoes of either Johnny Farrell or John Golden Monday afternoon.

Never was there a golf match when the mettle of a golfer was tested more thoroughly than when these two New Jersey money players tramped 18 holes in the van of 1,000 rabid fans at East Lake on a blue Monday after a week of struggle in the southern open.

To enumerate the great recoveries played by both players on the round would be to lay ourselves liable to expulsion for appropriating all the space in the paper but we will attempt to prove to the skeptical that fortitude of the nature that is commonly known as intestinal, is necessary to a golfer.

Farrell was wabbling with his irons from the first to the last and on the seventh hole he faced his first real crisis. His second was over the green and above the pin to the left in the deep rough. If he pitched and failed to clear the rough he would lose a stroke and if he did clear the rough the slope on the green would likely carry the ball far past the pin. It left him 12 one thing to do—he must play a full chip shot with plenty of spin and take the long chance of topping across the green to sure destruction. He played the chip and came to rest within two feet of the cup. All this was done with his opponent two up and lying for a sure four.

Again on the fourteenth the handsome Irishman was in the trap with his second shot and Golden, who was away with his second was within eight feet of the pin with his third. Johnny exploded one within two feet of the pin to halve the hole. That last putt of about eight feet by John Golden was also a great display of nerve. He knew that Farrell was down for a par and he must sink the eight-footer to halve the hole and keep his advantage of one stroke. Rather a hard position for a man, but Golden came through.

The seventeenth again proved that John Golden is not made of putty from his shoulders to his knees. His second was deep in a trap far to the right of the fairway. He must put the ball on or very near the green or lose a stroke. He pitched from that bunker to within a few feet of the green and was up for his four.

The story of that eighteenth hole will be told by many a golfing fan to scare some blooming young baby golfer to sleep at night. Incidentally, we have been cured of our habit of eating popcorn around a golf course. It is merely a form of gastronomical amusement anyhow and it was a carelessly thrown popcorn bag that started the debacle on the last hole in the match Monday.

We have told the story of the last hole in our account of the match in another place on these pages, so further enlargement is not necessary except a short word about that $4,000 putt by John Golden which ended the match.

Imagine yourself in his shoes. A hole already ruined by circumstances in the shape of popcorn bags and trees. His opponent down with a five and the match almost certainly square. A 10-foot putt downhill and across the treacherous slope of the eighteenth green. Well, we do not advise gambling but if you want to find out just how much of a task fell to the lot of John Golden on that last green Monday just go out and lay a moderate wager on a match and find yourself in the same position. YEAH TRY IT.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28.—(AP)—Crackers beat Petrels; Score 6 in One Inning. Buchanan Holds Niehoff Scoreless For Six Frames—Blows Up in Seventh.

BY TOM THOMPSON.

After holding the Crackers to two lonely bingles and absolutely no runs for six quick innings, Hugh Buchanan, the Oglethorpe hurler who shut out the Columbus, Southeastern league team last Friday, became as wild as a flapper's ideas in the seventh and the Crackers scored six runs toward a 7-3 victory over the Petrels at Spiller's Monday afternoon.

It was a triple by Ray Francis, who had relieved Pete Fowler on the mound for the Crackers in the opening half of the seventh that put the Crackers one run in the lead, but a subsequent error by Zoeller and a single by Zoeller brought two more runs in before the inning came to a close.

Prep Baseball Season Gets Under Way Today

Eight Teams Will Swing Into Action on Local Lots in Pennant Chase—Decatur Withdraws.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

Decatur High school has dropped out of the prep league for the baseball season, and East Point High has been admitted to the schoolboy loop in Decatur's place.

East Point was admitted at a meeting of the league representatives at the Athletic club Monday afternoon, and will play the games as scheduled for Decatur.

With this business over, and nine various gentlemen picked for the arduous task of umpiring high school baseball games, the preparers are all set for the opening of the season. This auspicious event will occur in several "lacs" this afternoon most of them starting around 7 o'clock.

Eight Teams Entered.

There are eight entrants in the race for the pennant. Last season the University school gang ran faster than anyone else, and after fighting off Tech High all the way down the stretch, won the pennant. A good start is looked for this season, but next Friday when the prepsters play again, anything is being looked for, and will most likely happen.

Because, if you'll look at your calendar, you'll see that it's April Fool's day and all eight of the teams will play on that date. And about about the last of the season the young pastimers will be busily engaged in negotiating an afternoon labelled Friday, the thirteenth.

So if anybody gets hit with a ball or drilled in the head with a bat or anything else happens, that's his lot on the members of the prep loop. It's the date.

MEDICAL WHISKY PLANS STUDIED

Washington, March 28.—(AP)—Definite proposals for private manufacture of medicinal whisky to restock the country's rapidly diminishing supply will be presented soon to Lincoln C. Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement.

He conferred today with distillers and owners of the present four and a half years' supply and when the conference terminated it was agreed that plans should be submitted immediately to have several private financial corporations begin manufacture of the spirits by next September.

Andrews told the liquor men that he wanted the medicinal whisky supply concentrated under the control of a few strong corporations separated into an eastern and a western group, distribution of the product to be supervised by the manufacturers and wholesale druggists. In this way, the prohibition chief explained, he expected to keep the whisky out of the hands of illegitimate dealers.

If the present tentative plans work out, Andrews will call in representatives of the wholesale druggists in the hope of perfecting safeguards against illegal diversion.

Since the organizations interested in the manufacture of additional medicinal liquor include those who now own the entire 10,000,000-gallon supply, the future medicinal stocks would be owned entirely by a few private corporations and this meets Andrews' views. The prohibition head declared that with the cooperation of the liquor industry, a "definite agreement would be reached for providing a continuing supply of pure whisky to be sold at a moderate price."

After manufacturing plans have been laid before him, Andrews said they would have to prove "sound and equitable." The method of controlling prices was not discussed in the preliminary conversations, he said. He added that it was probable that the old brands would be retained.

Frank G. Grambling Nearly Loses Foot Repairing Elevator

Presence of mind on the part of Elevator Operator Floyd Jennings in the Walton street elevator of the Federal building Monday probably saved the left foot of Frank G. Grambling, assistant engineer of the building, from being crushed off.

Grambling received a fracture of the ankle in the accident, but was able to leave Grady hospital for his home after receiving treatment. According to statements to Assistant Custodian Odom, the accident was unavoidable.

Grambling was working on top of the elevator at the third floor level, repairing the annunciator wires, when he called to Operator Jennings, "All right." This being the signal that the elevator could be moved, Operator Jennings started upward, when a cry from Grambling, as his foot became caught in the moving parts, reached the operator.

Operator Jennings brought the car to an immediate halt, thus saving Grambling from possible further injury, as his leg was caught in a dangerous position. By careful manipulation, the injury, though serious, and Grambling was carried to the hospital in an ambulance.

CITY-WIDE Y. W. A.'S TO MEET TONIGHT WITH LOCAL W.M.U.'S

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock there will be a combined meeting of city-wide Y. W. A.'s and the Atlanta Association of W. M. U.'s, at the Third Baptist church, corner Luckie and Gresham streets.

As this will be a combined meeting, taking the place of the regular Y. W. A. rally which was supposed to be held on April 18, supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock for the Y. W. A. girls, during which time all business will be transacted, after which they will go to the main auditorium of the Third Baptist church for the association meeting. All Y. W. A. girls are urged to attend.

PASCHAL TO SPEAK TO NEGRO BAPTISTS

Dr. W. F. Paschal, pastor of the Hunter Street Negro Baptist church, will be the principal speaker at the Union Baptist church of East Point on Thursday night, April 7. Other missionaries and church officials participating in the religious program will be R. P. Green, chairman deacon; Annie Taylor, president of the mission; H. Hutchison, superintendent of the Sunday school; J. C. Maddox, chairman of the usher's board; the Rev. K. C. Maddox, acting pastor, and wife.

The meeting will be attended by 1,000 members from more than 100 lodges within a radius of 50 miles of Atlanta. It was announced. The roof garden of the May hotel will be the meeting place.

The business session will begin at 6 o'clock with a meeting of the executive committee. At 6:30 o'clock, West End lodge No. 290, will be in charge of a business session. Candidates for the executive committee, D. L. Nichols, promptly at 6:30 o'clock. At 7 o'clock the four degrees of the order will be conferred by crack drill degree staffs of four Atlanta lodges.

The meeting will conclude a series of regional meetings held over the state in the last 10 days. Several grand lodge officers will be in attendance, among them, Grand Master R. Howard Hendrix, of Columbus, and the grand secretary, T. H. Robertson, of Gainesville.

Balmy Weather Will Continue For Several Days

Another fine day is in store for Atlanta today, according to the weather forecast by C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist of the local weather station.

Spring is here at least for a few days, the weatherman said in predicting more days like Monday, which he termed the most "spring-like day" of the season. The coldest point on the thermometer during the early morning hours of Monday was 46 degrees. The high point reached was 65 degrees. The same range of temperatures is forecast for today, accompanied by balmy breezes.

With the sharp break occurring the early part of last week, shortly after the apparent opening of spring, when the thermometer came within two degrees of registering freezing weather, a gradual recovery to vernal comfort was experienced and the climate reached in the ideal spring weather Monday. The absence of climatic interference anywhere in the country, except for a slight disturbance far to the north, is an assurance that the pleasant weather is likely to remain for several days, Mr. von Herrmann explained.

OFFICERS AT FORT GET ASSIGNMENTS TO ARMY SCHOOLS

In the annual school list which is published by the war department several months before the end of the fiscal year are included the names of all officers of the army assigned to the various service schools. The 22d infantry has been rather hard hit when it is considered that the regiment will lose seven of its most popular officers who go to either Fort Benning or Fort Monmouth, the latter the army signal school in New Jersey.

The list includes Captain George W. Teachout, at present commanding the service company and in charge of the regimental band, will go to Benning to attend the field officers' class. First Lieutenant Robert A. Johnson, at present the post exchange officer at the fort, is scheduled to go to Benning to attend the company officers' class. Lieutenant Johnson joined the regiment in July, 1926, upon his return from Panama.

Lieutenant Jesse E. Graham, who commands company F at Benning, will likewise attend the company officers' class. First Lieutenant Sam Purswell, all around rifle and pistol shot, will get the same assignment as Lieutenant Graham. He returned from Hawaii last April.

First Lieutenant Bert N. Bryan, in charge of the small-bore competitions at the fort, and who also is an excellent shot with either rifle or pistol, is due for the company officers' class at Benning.

First Lieutenant J. W. Childs, one of the best polo players on the 22d infantry team, will also attend the company officers' course at Benning. First Lieutenant S. L. Metcalf, formerly rifle instructor at Georgia Tech, will be sent to the signal school at Fort Monmouth.

Lost Bridal Gown Of Murdered Olson Girl Discovered

Prairie Du Chien, Wis., March 28. What was to have been the bridal gown of Clara Olson, the simple farm girl who was murdered last December 30, possibly by her unwilling lover, has been found.

The garments, discovered in a box, where the girl's body was unearthed, were identified Monday by Chris Olson, her father. Erdman Olson, son of a neighboring farmer, who was formally charged with the murder even before the body was discovered, has been missing since December. A nation-wide search for him has been fruitless.

ATLANTA CHEMIST DIES SUDDENLY

Sidney Brain, prominent Atlanta chemical engineer, of 847 Rose circle, died suddenly on the fifteenth floor of the Citizens & Southern Bank building shortly after 3 o'clock Monday afternoon from a stroke of apoplexy.

Mr. Brain had been in the office of Andrew M. Fairle only a few minutes before he was stricken and was walking in the lobby toward the elevator when he fell to the floor, it was said. A doctor and an ambulance were summoned but Mr. Brain was dead when they reached him. His body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Awtry & Lowndes, which will be announced later.

A native of England, Mr. Brain came to Atlanta about 15 years ago with members of his family. He was well known in fraternal circles and extensive member of the Boodle Hill lodge, No. 523, F. & A. M., the Cœur de Lion commandery, the Knights Templars and the Shrine.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bertha Brain, and a son, Norman Brain.

Other important capital increases also have been noted in Kentucky and Georgia. At Nashville, Tenn., the Fourth and First National banks, the Fourth and First Bank and Trust companies and the Nashville Trust company have merged with combined resources of $66,000,000. Other important mergers in Kentucky and South Carolina also are reported, the publication states.

McLENDON ORDERS AUDIT OF BOOKS IN THEFT PROBE

Secretary of State S. G. McLendon announced Monday that he had called on State Auditor Sam J. Slater to begin Tuesday an audit of the books of the motor vehicle department in an effort to establish definitely whether or not any discrepancies exist in the accounts of that department.

Charles Wilkes, negro porter of the department, was arrested recently, charged with theft of $500 from the safe of the department. Secretary McLendon stated that the daily records show no further discrepancy but Charles A. Cook, cashier of the department, stated that more than $5,000 is missing.

Mr. Cook caught the negro in the alleged act of taking the money from the safe, called deputy sheriff and had him arrested. The negro was indicted by the grand jury and is in the Fulton county tower in default of $10,000 bond.

WEST END MINISTER ACCEPTS GRIFFIN CALL

He came to Atlanta approximately 17 months ago from Union, S. C., where he served for nine and a half years as rector of the Church of the Nativity.

Russian Refugee To Appear Here In Grand Opera

Escaped out of Russia, with the ease assumed by the nobility, comes George Cehanovsky, who will visit Atlanta the last week in April as a member of the Metropolitan Opera company. He will sing twice during the music festival season, on Wednesday evening, he will have the part of the Mandarin in "Turandot" and he will appear again on Friday afternoon in "Lohengrin."

George will reach Atlanta by way of Constantinople, where he began his career as an artist. His voice is baritone and he has all the background required for the perfect matinee idol. He made a swift transition from the full regalia of a Russian naval officer to the pomp of operatic costume. During the world war he had command of a torpedo boat in the Baltic sea and later saw submarine service. In 1924 he joined the San Carlos Opera company and recently became a member of the Metropolitan.

Nine operas in eight performances will be given during the approaching season: "La Traviata" on Monday evening, a double bill, including "Gianni Schicchi" and "L'Amore del Tre Re" on Tuesday, "Turandot" on Wednesday, "Mignon" on Thursday, "Lohengrin" on Friday afternoon, "La Forza del Destino" on Friday night, "Romeo et Juliette" on Saturday afternoon and "Madame Butterfly" on Saturday night.

Herbert Johnson, 17, was arrested Monday by County Policemen Cal Cates and Charlie Lyle and lodged in the Fulton tower where he is being held as a suspect to the attempted robbery last week of a grocery operated by Charles Dunn, on Bolton road.

The attempted holdup was frustrated by Dunn who grasped the bandit's pistol which the latter drew as the storekeeper was filling the bandit's demand for 30 cents worth of candy. Dunn fired several shots at the youth as he dashed for liberty.

SUSPECT IS HELD IN ATTEMPTED GROCERY HOLDUP

F. A. Savage, a tobacco merchant of Chamblee, Ga., witnessed the fastest turn-over of a tobacco stock ever heard of in the annals of merchandising, when, Monday morning, the truck-load of tobacco in all forms, including snuff, that he had just purchased from the Capital City Tobacco company "went like hot cakes" while Savage was still in the store completing details of his purchase.

Savage's only worry is he does not know to whom to charge the tobacco, nor for that matter, the truck in which he was preparing to haul his purchase back to Chamblee. For Savage's "customer" worked with celerity. Savage drove in from Chamblee and parked his truck in front of 179 Marietta street, where he stocked his truck with cigars, cigarettes and other tobacco from the wholesale store. When he emerged from the store after settling details, the truck and its contents had disappeared. The truck contained $400 worth of supplies, according to the story related at police headquarters.

Dear Sir:

Acting in capacity of observer for the Atlanta Motor Club, affiliated with the A. A. A., it was my pleasure to accompany Chick Murray on his recent record-breaking run from Atlanta to Macon in a Whippet Stock Touring car.

The distance of 91 miles from the City limits of Atlanta to the City limits of Macon was made in one hour and fifty-three minutes and twenty seconds (1:53:20) which we believe to be the fastest time recorded in a stock car for this trip. Four miles of this road is over two detours, somewhat rough.

Thanking you for the opportunity of witnessing such a splendid demonstration, Most cordially yours,

INSTALLMENT XVI.

Cornelia Makes a Promise.
 Lyman paused for a moment to note the effect of his story on the reporters and after a sip from his glass went on:

"Climbing down to fight has way through the mob he had got all of him over the railing but one foot when— if she didn't nab him by that and then by the pants! Till she'd kind of climbed up his leg far enough to get her head over the railing, and 'Pas de trois!' she calls out to the Frenchmen in the crowd. 'Monsieur! Mariez me, s'il vous plait, aujourd'hui!'"

"By this time she was up, leaning over so far she'd got a strangle hold on his neck with her right arm, and she hung the left one down loose. 'Look! Voyez! See!' she yelled, stretching her hand out. Some of them lifted up the torches they were carrying and saw the ring on her finger. The interpreter was interpreting to beat the band. She had 'em held up, the boobies: some of 'em held up, the boobies: some of 'em held up, the boobies— and de votre—work avec vous in picture, and darned if she didn't take the loose ends of her bobbed hair and make a kind of beard around his chin with it, to get him recognized. And then, pointing to herself, 'Bride—nouvelle épouse—supper de mariage,' says she, yanking down the vines and knocking over the plants so that the little table with the candles shone right out at them bright and clear in the dark."

"The whole silly mob burst into a great roar of laughter, yapping out cheers. She said to Horner, 'O, darling, come back to me! Make me look foolish doing it! But, grinning, and he kissed her hand. Then he kissed her on the mouth. Somehow or other he had about seventy dollars on him in cash, pretty near as much as the pay roll of the entire desert, including the wild animals, which he threw into the crowd for it to go off and drink the bride's health. And she tore yards and yards of silver lace off her dress, that was all heavy with blue turquoise flowers, and cut it into scraps they could catch for 'bride's luck.' And they and the interpreter went whooping off to other, waving their torches and playing their musical instruments, but having lost whatever brains they had in their heads since they played them before. The courtyard got to be empty and the hotel quieted down, and so far from Henry Horner trying to push past his father-in-law to get out the door, neither he nor Dulcie Jayne would open their door, nor for her own father. So there they sat, waiting for us to do but to go off and leave them alone."

"The joke was on me, you're thinking, gentlemen. Well, it's now it's up to me to pass the buck. She's married him, all right. So she owes this firm one hundred thousand dollars. And I'm here to get it. And I can keep her face off the screen for three years. I've come home to do that."

In the Bronx flat the tension was becoming too tight. The waiting for Dulcie's reply which should shatter Lyman to splinters with the charge of his having been first to break the contract began to grind too sharp an edge on life, cutting the nerves of anxious ladies as they tried merely to go about their business.

For it was now mid-January. The last lodger had been gone a week and the Marshes simply would not have the money to pay the February rent. This just did not bear thinking of.

Reading and rereading the newspaper's abridged, not to say telegraphed, accounts of Lyman's story, the Marsh ladies perceived that, whether comic, caustic, or colorless, Lyman's no instance did they suggest Lyman's publicity department. Dulcie's reliance upon the likelihood that a small blonde would get the sympathy appeared to have been well founded. Not only did one of the papers casually mention Lyman's denial of "The Wild Dove" ever having been received in the office, so that now he need not be back on having made that statement, but the general journalistic impression had created for her a stage of serio-comic in the house, in our wardrobes, in our rickety and nerve-racking persons which does not need something bought for it. "When Dulcie gets back," the Marshes told themselves, "the boat's getting in Friday, perhaps, or Wednesday, tomorrow."

Promptly the various wandering influences gathered into an epidemic and the scenario department began to sneeze and arrive late. Miss Jacobs remained at her post with the flu, which she called a cold, but H. Jerome Hubbard was already confined to his bed with a cold which he called the flu; Mr. Leach himself, having been thrown into a decline by the abandonment of "Under Two Flags," had scarcely been brought back to super-normal by Lyman's acceptance of two originals from his pen when he was stricken dumb by laryngitis.

On the Friday that was still Dulcie-less Mrs. Marsh heard Cornelia saying that the scenario department seemed as if it were actually crumbling to pieces, not that Miss Jacobs had at last stayed home with the flu, and that evening some one telephoned asking, if Miss Marsh wasn't too tired, wouldn't she come and see Miss Jacobs a minute.

The Jacobs apartment, subdued to sickness and anxious nursing though it was, gave Cornelia an impression of still swarming with comfort, vitality, prosperity, after such a such as she had somehow supposed to have vanished with the Victorian era; in its little court bedroom, as rich and rosy and ruffled and ruffled, in the rose color as though a rose itself had been pinked, the sick girl no longer seemed a Hertzog official, but the little daughter of the house, suddenly very young, so that her pallor and her heavy eyes looked doubly tragic in the bright, sunny room. Yet it was the Hertzog official who spoke, "Keep your coat on you. The way I got to have this window open, I guess it's pneumonia I'm down with. So I'm likely to get off my head any minute, and I wanted to ask you, Miss Marsh, would you keep an eye on the filling cabinet?"

She was propped h-b in bed, but her voice came flat and far away; her eyes looked puzzled, as if she herself were surprised at something within her pushing her to this.

"I expect you read all Lyman had to say in the papers?"

"All of them."

"The strength of Miss Jacobs' will pulled her heavy eyes up to Cornelia's eyes. "What I mean is," she said, "look out. I mean—you know what I mean?"

"Mr. Hertzog's a long ways off. He thinks I'm in charge like he left me. But some times a person can't—" She began to cough. Her mother came nervously to the door, exclaiming, "Just a minute, mamma. Who's in charge of it now, Miss Marsh?"

"Mr. Leach called Miss Frye in. Lyman hasn't come over yet at all."

"She hasn't got any sense," Miss Jacobs slowly and heavily replied, ignoring Cornelia's second statement. "Might leave it open—or or let the card catalogue get mixed. Ask Mr. Leach can't you stay there some—the other room's chilly, maybe." Her face was an agony of dumb speech; when her mother, brimming with anxiety, entered the room the girl extended a burning hand. "I know it's not much use. But it's—Mr. Hertzog's not being here, see? When a person's sick they get notions." Cornelia carried away the grip of that hot hand and the dumb energy of those sick eyes, full of speech.

GLASSES

An Exclusive Optical Store

After your oculist has scientifically examined your eyes for glasses you should be as careful in the selection of your glasses as you were in the selection of your oculist. There are many patients sadly disappointed in their glasses and lay all the blame on their oculist, when in many cases the fault is in the material and workmanship furnished by the oculist. It requires just as much knowledge and skill to make a pair of glasses correctly as it does to make a correct examination of the eye. Ask your oculist about us and our reliability if you do not already know.

MORAL: Have your prescription for glasses filled at Ballard's, a reliable exclusive optical store. No side lines.

$60,000 JEWELS TAKEN BY THEFT

New York, March 28.—(A)—Thief of $60,000 worth of jewels was reported to the police today by Mrs. B. G. Dahlberg, wife of the president of the Celotex company, of Chicago.

Mrs. Dahlberg's jewels were stolen from her hotel suite while she was in it. They were taken from a dresser in a room at the Ritz Carlton in which she was sleeping.

Mr. and Mrs. Dahlberg, who had been staying at the Ritz since last Thursday, went out last night and did not return until late. When they left and when they returned all doors to the suite were locked. On returning Mrs. Dahlberg put the jewels she was wearing in a strong box, and placed them in a dresser drawer. When she awoke the box was gone. Other jewels valued at $25,000 in another part of the dresser were overlooked by the thief.

Mrs. Dahlberg's jewels were all insured. Among them were a plaque containing 65 diamonds valued at $22,000, and brooch with a nine karat diamond in the center.

New York, March 28.—(A)—The steamer Steel Inventor, bound from Galveston, Texas, for Manila, was aground off Old Providence last night, on the coast of Nicaragua late tonight, it was reported by the bureau of naval communications here.

Although the distressed ship at first sent out S. O. S. signals causing commercial radio broadcasting to be shut off, she later reported she was not in danger. The first S. O. S. was picked up here at 11:35 p. m., but shortly afterwards she withdrew the S. O. S. calls and general broadcasting was resumed. Navy officials here said no ship had been sent to the assistance of the Steel Inventor.

The vessel, with a gross tonnage of 5,686, was built at Kearny, N. J., for the United States shipping board in 1920. Her present owners are the U. S. Steel Products company, of New York.

Chinese To Oust Russian Helpers, Kerensky States

BY ALFRED P. RECK.

Washington, March 28.—(United News.)—Bolshevik bugaboos in China and Mexico should not cause American officials to lose sleep. Alexander Kerensky, first premier of Russia following the 1917 revolution, told the United News.

As soon as semblance of order is established in China, Cantonese leaders will oust all bolsheviks and their propaganda, the ex-premier believes.

"The role played by bolsheviks in China today is the same as they played in Turkey during Kemal Pasha's coup," Kerensky declared. "As soon as the Turkish leaders accomplished their purposes, the bolsheviks were kicked out and the spending of their money stopped."

"The same will occur in China," he said. "Suggestions that America should fear soviet inroads into Mexico brought only a laugh from the former premier."

"There are no bolshevik influences at work in Mexico, that is, they are making no progress," Kerensky said. "Russia is too smart to permit bolshevik propaganda to upset his government."

In China, the ex-premier pointed out, civil war was breaking long before bolshevism appeared on the scene.

"The bolsheviks simply took advantage of the unrest," he said, "and sent their agents to China after the revolution had started. All they are doing in China is stirring up trouble and the Cantonese leaders are not unwise enough to fall for it."

"Wealthy Chinese merchants and industrial leaders are backing the Cantonese movement so it would be foolish to suppose they would have anything to do with the bolsheviks," Kerensky declared.

BLUE RIDGE FARMER FINDS GOLD NUGGET

Hendrick states that small particles of gold have been found on his farm from time to time, but that the nugget discovered by an expert miner from Colorado is the first real indication of the presence of gold in paying quantities on his property.
